CRIME CONDITIONS DISGRACEFUL; NO POSITIVE REMEDY SAYS COMMISSION

F. Trubee Davison's Organization Urges Work by State Agencies and Individuals.

NATIONAL SURVEY FOUND IMPRACTICAL

New York Prosecutor Says Newspapers Help by Publishing Penalties as Well as Offenses.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 29.—The National Crime Commission, after investigations covering a period of five months, has concluded there is no universal panacea for crime, but that application of remedies rests with individual states and individual citizens.

The commission's attitude was set forth by its Executive Committee, which submitted a report through Richard Washburn Child, chairman, at a meeting here yesterday, recommending creation of state crime commissions by state legislatures or by private citizens.

Child reported the committee had reflected a proposal for a national crime survey, believing it would be impractical.

F. Trubee Davison of New York, chairman of the commission, declared the crime situation was such as to "challenge attention, thought and action," and that the most pressing question was that of administration of justice.

Conditions "Disgraceful."

Saying that very few jurisdictions in the country can properly boast of an ideal state of affairs, Davison asserted that where conditions have been accurately ascertained, "the situation has almost universally been found to be disgraceful." He thought, however, that the people in the various communities could make the machinery of justice efficient if they would "set their minds to the task."

Attorneys-General of the states will be asked to investigate the practicality of prescribing a generalized outline of uniform pistol regulations to be introduced in the State Legislatures next year. In making this announcement today, Davison said he had selected Chas-ter H. Powell, chairman of the sub-committee on police regulations, to take up the work with the State officials. Powell will also communicate with representatives of small arms manufacturers and the National Rifle Association of America which have pledged their aid in remedial legislation.

Joab H. Banton, State District Attorney for New York County, said there had been a marked improvement in the crime situation in his district in the last few years and attributed much of the success of a drive against crime to the support of New York newspapers.
The newspapermen had co-operated by giving the same prominence to penalties that they gave to crimes and criminals, and added that the result of this publicity had been "equal to more than 2000 additional policemen and 10 additional judges."

Newspapers of Great Help.

Newspapers, he held, can serve as the greatest crime deterrents.
Delegates were privileged to speak for the firearms and ammunition industry of the country. Frank J. Kahra told the commission the arms industry would support a move to obtain a uniform law in all states to control and regulate sale and possession of pistols and revolvers.

President Coolidge, who received the Executive Committee yesterday, endorsed the commission's activities in a letter to its chairman.

While the crime commission was meeting, another group of prominent attorneys and jurists, headed by Charles Evans Hughes, former Supreme Court Justice, began consideration of a plan for organizing a national society that would seek to assist law enforcement by eliminating what was characterized as the "dishonest element" in the legal profession.

A report proposing a federation of local bar associations with state associations was submitted.

STATE DROPS ALL CHARGES AGAINST FORREST FERGUSON

SIDENER TELLS

Action Ends All Prosecutions by State Growing Out of $3,000,000 Crash
—Federal Action Possible

All criminal charges against Forrest Ferguson, growing out of the collapse of the Ferguson-Mc-Kinney Manufacturing Co., of which he was president, were dismissed by the Circuit Attorney today, as had been forecast, when the defendant was arraigned before Circuit Judge Mix on three indictments charging him with making false written statements to obtain $3,000,000 credit from banks.

Circuit Attorney Sidener pointed out that the State's case against Ferguson was weakened, if not utterly spoiled, by the recent death of Murray Carleton, financial director of Ferguson-McKinney, who was jointly indicted with Ferguson.

Evidence against Carleton, who was indicted as a conspirator, convicting and convicting." It had been possible to have a trial of Carleton, he continued, there "would be no doubt of its success."

Carleton Chief Defendant.

The State desired to try Carleton
first, said the prosecutor, because
of the dominating trial in the whole case and the Circuit Attorney
feared that it was through his manipulations, efforts
and orders, and his outstanding prominence in the community, that made it possible for credit to be extended by various institutions.
Closed Garage Doors.

Weber, who is 42 years old, went to the garage at 7 a. m. to make a minor adjustment on his roadster. He returned to the house to answer a phone call at 7:15 and then went back to complete his work before breakfast. He closed the garage door upon re-entering because of the chilly morning.

It was only five minutes later that the maid, Miss Else Fuchter, went to the garage. Upon opening the doorway she saw him lying on the floor near the machine.
Beside him was the electric inspection lamp by the light of which he had been making the adjustment.
The garage was filled with smoke and the exhaust of his automobile, upon which he had been working with the garage doors and windows closed.

She promptly called a neighbor,
Albert von Hoffman, wealthy printer, of 3817 Flora place, who dragged Weber from the garage and administered artificial respiration.
A physician who was called said Weber's condition was serious but he had no doubt of his recovery.

The State desired to try Carleton
first, said the prosecutor, because
of the dominating trial in the whole case and the Circuit Attorney
feared that it was through his manipulations, efforts
and orders, and his outstanding
prominence in the community, that
made it possible for credit to be extended by various institutions.

As is known, the Ferguson-Mc-Kinney failure last October caused tial loss to stockholders, and losses in excess of $2,500,000 to creditors.

After commenting upon Judge
Mix's instructed verdict of acquittal for Ferguson Tuesday in the case in which he was charged with embezzlement of $115,000 from the company by a IOU device, the Circuit Attorney pointed out that Ferguson did not draw up the false financial statement, did not negotiate the loans and did not actually obtain the credit.

"Ferguson did some things which in a measure made it possible for Carleton to carry through his plans, and it was upon this testimony that he was indicted," continued the prosecutor, adding that after thorough investigation he had concluded the State was without sufficient evidence to convict Ferguson on the false financial statement charge.

Difficulties in Investigation.

After the false proseguo had been entered by Judge Mix, Sidener asked for the privilege of making an oral statement. He declared that "from the beginning the State had experienced difficulties in proceeding with the investigation of the case."

"My office did not receive the heartily co-operation of those who were engaged in going over the affairs in this matter," he said.
"When I came to need certain documents to go into the matter of preparing charges, they were secured only after threats of arrest were made."

Sidener called attention to the fact that special counsel in the case withdrew shortly before the death of Carleton. "Had it been possible to bring Carleton to trial," he said,
"I think there would have been no doubt of a conviction in the case."

Edward W. Forstel, attorney for Ferguson, rose at the conclusion of Sidener's statement and inquired if Sidener referred to his client as opposing the progress of the inquiry.
Sidener replied that he did not, and Forstel went on to state that his client "had been deceived by this man who was worth from three to five million dollars."

"Any man would have been deceived in the same way as he was deceived by Carleton," Forstel declared.

While all the State's charges against Ferguson have been dropped, there still is possibility of prosecution by the Federal Government. Postoffice Inspectors have

MAN WHO SHOT NIAGARA FALLS IN BARREL DIES FROM SLIP ON ORANGE PEEL

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 29.
DISPATCH to the Evening
News from Christchurch,
New Zealand, says that
"Bobby" Leach, who went over Niagara Falls in a steel barrel in 1911, is dead from injuries suffered when he slipped on a piece of orange peel in the street.

Leach's leg was broken and it was found necessary to amputate.

"Bobby" Leach, a Canadian, achieved world-wide notoriety through hisfeat at Niagara Falls. He was the second person to go over the falls and live, the first being Mrs. Anne Edson Taylor of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who made the trip in a barrel Oct. 24, 1901.

Leach's trip was made July 25, 1911. He was severely battered and bruised in the drop of 158 feet over the Horseshoe Falls, but his injuries were only superficial. He was 49 years old when he performed thefeat and 64 when he died.

MORE THAN $20,000,000.

SALE OF THE CENTRAL POWER AND LIGHT CO. LAST YEAR, RESULTED IN A NET PROFIT OF APPROXIMATELY $3, 000,000 TO WARNER S. McCall OF 5510
WATERMAN AVENUE. THIS WAS DIS-CLOSED BY McCall'S STATE INCOME TAX RETURN, IN WHICH HIS NET PROFIT FOR LAST YEAR, AMONG THE LARGEST IN THE STATE, WAS PLACED AT $2,106,995.

McCall was president of the company, and with Ralph W. Morrison of San Antonio, who was vice president, owned all the stock in the company. The concern is a public utilities company operating in five Southern states and Mexico.

At the time of the sale of the Central Power and Light Co. last July to the Middle West Utilities Co. of Chicago, McCall said the amount involved in the transaction was in excess of $20,000,000. At that time he said the company had bank deposits of approximately $2,000,000, gross earnings for 1924 of $3,000,000 and net earnings of $1,900,000.

The Central company was incorporated by McCall and Morrison in 1916, and in the nine years that followed up to the time of the sale, a steady growth in the operations of the company took place. In 1925 the Central Power and Light
Co. was operating in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Mississippi and Mexico. The utilities supplied in these states, for 65 communities, include electric light and power, gas, ice, water and electrical railway transportation.

McCall was until 1911 vice president of the St. Louis Car Co., and according to business associates had built up a fortune in the development of utility companies before coming to St. Louis from Tennessee a number of years ago.

He recently returned from Europe,
and at present is with Mrs.
McCall in Washington.

RIFIANS AGREE TO ANSWER
PEACE TERMS BEFORE MAY 1

NEGOTIATIONS WITH FRENCH AND SPANISH EXPECTED TO TAKE A DEFINITIVE TURN TONIGHT.

By the Associated Press.
OUJDIA, French Morocco, April 29.—The Rifians have accepted the Franco-Spanish demand for a cease fire to their peace negotiations with the French and Spanish forces.

At 1 a. m. yesterday, from Tarfaya, the Rifian chief, Abd El-Krim, is expected to arrive from Tarfaya during the afternoon, and when the conference reconvenes at 6:30 p. m., a decisive turn in the negotiations, either toward war or a truce, is expected.

Although it is not now possible to ascertain fully his activities in the association it has been learned from the books that Pechan issued paid-up stock certificates in the association without authority of the board of directors and did not account for the money received for them.

It is also known that on several occasions he got from the board authority to make a loan of certain amount and then increased it of his own authority. In one case, for example, the board authorized him to make a loan of $5,000 on behalf of the association. Investigation following his disappearance has shown that on that loan he took $10,000 from the association treasury.

On another occasion he asked for $8,000 on his office building at Twelfth and Russell boulevards, which also houses the offices of the association. The books show the loan was increased to $20,000.

TRANSACTIONS BY CHECK.

All of these transactions were made by check rather than by cash.
Checks were invariably countersigned by President William Hey-manek and Treasurer Joseph W.
Straka but Pechan was in their confidence and it is believed the checks were signed in blank.

With the discovery of such irregularities have come notices of scores of claims of creditors of the association. Lawsuits may be necessary to collect some of them.

Pechan, who held the line during the strike, has been given a few days to make arrangements to settle his debts.

COULD NOT SETTLE HIS DEBTS.

Despite the irregularities in the association's books, State auditors say the organization can still stand on its financial feet and be operated as a paying business. Against the $57,000 deficit already incurred, Pechan has balanced his surety bonds of more than $10,000 and $24,000 in neutrals and undivided profits, $3000 contingent fund and $4000 in accrued dividends.

In Pechan's affairs as an independent real estate operator, Receiver Nettle today attempted to intervene in the receivership of the Beatrice Ann Realty Co., still another Pechan project, now in liquidation. Pechan's surety bonds of more than $10,000 and undivided

BEER WAR THEORY GIVEN TO EXPLAIN CHICAGO MURDERS

James J. Doherty Real Target—Killing of Prosecutor and Other Companions Held Incidental.

RIVAL BOOTLEGGERS WANTED BY POLICE

Fight on Gangsters Ordered—Civic Leader Calls for Special State's Attorney for Cleanup.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 29.—The 'beer racket' has supplanted all other theories as supplying the motive behind the slaying by gangsters of William H. McSwiggin, Assistant State's Attorney, and James J. Doherty and Thomas Duffy in Cicero Tuesday night. The killings resulted in one of the most energetic campaigns against gangsters ever waged in Cook County. Almost every scrap of information pointed to the fact that the killing of Doherty was long planned by rival alcohol and beer purveyors from whom Doherty was wresting control of business in Cicero, and that McSwiggin and Duffy were killed merely because they happened to be in Doherty's company when bullets were pumped into Doherty's automobile.

Durkin Theory Abandoned.
The theory that McSwiggin was out seeking evidence for the murder trial of Martin Durkin, slayer, was abandoned. Police also reject the theory that he was slain in revenge for his activity as a prosecutor, for McSwiggin was friendly with Doherty and Duffy and their presence together was merely incidental.

A campaign against gangsters and their resorts was in progress all night. There was a great scouring of the beer bosses and gamblers. One Thompson machine gun, said by detectives to have been used by the slayers, was traced to the store of Alex V. Korecek. Korecek said he had bought it on an order from two men whom he did not know. An all-night siege of questioning failed to wrest any contradictory information from him. His place of business is in the heart of the "Valley," where at least 20 murders for beer money, robbery have been committed. He was unable to pick the pictures of his customers from portraits at the Bureau of Identification.

No Clew to Others in Car.
Police so far have no direct information as to the identity of one and possibly two other men who were in the automobile in which McSwiggin and his two companions were slain, although one of them is thought to have been Myles O'Donnell, friend of Doherty. He also is said to have been present for the killing.

Quotes Judge Mix.
The defendant was charged with embezzlement, and as Your Honor said, "Every time Ferguson wanted money he handed his IOU to another officer and that officer made out a regular check of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co., signed it and the bank cashed it." In his legal instructions to the jury, he said, "I am bound to give to the jury in this case, there is a clause, and with intent at the time to unlawfully convert the money to his own use and permanently deprive its owner of its use without its consent."

This defendant did not conceal his indebtedness from the company and did not get the money without the consent of the company through its officers who were its only four stockholders. If I were to strike from the instructions the phrase, "without the consent of the company," I would be guilty of reversible error. What we are trying here is a reckless business method, but whether, under these circumstances, I O U constitutes embezzlement. As the case now stands, I would have to give an instruction for acquittal."

Grand Jury Inquiry Exhaustive.
The grand jury of the City of St. Louis, for the October term, 1925, made an exhaustive investigation of the affairs of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co., the Carleton Dry Goods Co., and the Carleton-Ferguson Co., and its conclusion returned inculpations against Murray Carleton and Forrest Ferguson with making a false written statement for the purpose of securing credit, and also indicted Ferguson on a charge of embezzlement.

"The evidence against Murray Carleton, on the charges for which he was indicted, was clear, convincing and convincing, and if it had been possible to have a trial of Carleton there is no doubt as to its success. The investigation all the way through showed that it was through and by Murray Carleton and his high standing in this city to make it possible for credit party."

Police raiders seeking "Scarface" Caponi, arrested his brother Ralph, the latter's wife and Charles Flechtel in Ralph's apartment. They seized a quantity of arms and ammunition, a catalogue listing a machine gun, and a book of instructions for operating such a gun. Seven revolvers, two pistols and four shotguns also were found. "Scarface" Caponi had left the apartment before the raid, detectives said.

Police Sergeant Anthony McSwiggin, father of the slain prosecutor, has sworn vengeance. The ambition of his life, he said, was to see his son take his place in thwarting criminals. "I thought my life work was over," the father declared, "but it has begun and won't rest until I've killed every boy's slayer or have seen them hanged."

VANDERBILT AND SON BREAK OVER NEWSPAPER LOSS

Cornelius Jr. Announces Family Has Withdrawn Support From His Tabloid Dailies.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. announced last night that his family, after investing more than $1,000,000, had withdrawn its financial support of the Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc.

Vanderbilt disclosed that his newspaper enterprises were in a precarious state and that he was ready to pledge his patrimony of $1,500,000 to procure a sum of money to put them on their feet.

To over-expansion and bad judgment on the part of those entrusted with the business management of the Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., he attributed the present situation. He said that with $300,000 which he intends raising on his patrimony, he can put the newspapers on a paying basis in six months.

Young Vanderbilt said he was confident he could prevent disaster for the stockholders in his newspaper enterprises and is prepared, in the face of a definite break with his father, to "fight it through."

He said his father's aversion to newspapers in general, and his son's in particular, was the cause of the family's withholding aid. He said he had undergone 14 operations in the last year, attributing his ill health to overwork.

Vanderbilt started his career in journalism as a cub reporter in New York. Three years ago, at 23, he established a chain of tabloid newspapers. He and his tabloid properties were the Los Angeles Illustrated Daily News, San Francisco Illustrated Daily Herald, Miami Illustrated Daily Tab, and two magazines, the Vanderbilt Weekly and the Vanderbilt Farmer.

He estimated plant valuation at $6,000,000 and total valuation at $5,000,000.

Initial Investment $115,000.

He said his initial investment in September, 1923, was $115,000 of his own money. Subsequently $3,500,000 was added to $500,000 sub-savers.

Young Vanderbilt said the purpose of his statement was merely to reassure stockholders who are scattered all over the lot that the newspaper properties will be distributed among relatives, friends and charities. He lived at 2907 Milton street. The defendants in today's action are Oren E. Scott, a real estate dealer, and Judge William Dee Becker of the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

He said he caused her to postpone legal action by promising to remember her in his will. This he failed to do, she alleges.

Hahn died last May, leaving a will providing that his estate be distributed among relatives, friends and charities. He lived at 2907 Milton street. The defendants in today's action are Oren E. Scott, a real estate dealer, and Judge William Dee Becker of the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

The plaintiff recites in her petition that Hahn induced her to come from her home in Germany to St. Louis in 1896 to act as a housekeeper and cook in his home. She alleges that she also did secretarial work for him, and left his employ in 1905 without being paid for her services. In 1908, her petition sets forth, she made a demand on Hahn for payment of $9000 for her services, threatening to sue him. She alleges he caused her to postpone legal action by promising to remember her in his will. This he failed to do, she alleges.

ARCTIC FLYERS SAFE AT POINT BARROW

Capt. Wilkins and Pilot Eelsen Heard From After 13 Days' Silence.

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 29.—The North American Newspaper Alliance announced today that Captain George H. Wilkins, leader of the Detroit Arctic Expedition, and his pilot, Ben Eelsen, had landed in their plane in good condition at Point Barrow. This was the first direct word from them for 13 days.

The aviators left their base at Fairbanks for Point Barrow with a heavy load of supplies. Considerable anxiety was expressed for their safety when radio contact with them was lost.

One Plane in Expedition Fails in Test.
By the Associated Press
FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 29.—Shipment of supplies for the Wilkins trans-polar airplane expedition into the Arctic Ocean by steamer was suggested here today following tests which were said to have shown inability of the Detroit, three-engined plane, to reach Point Barrow, 520 miles north of here, and return to Fairbanks.

Steiners would be able to reach Point Barrow only after the Arctic ice pack breaks up in July or August. The Detroiters started from Point Barrow, northwardly bound, on the expedition. Monday, April 22, turned back after traveling 100 miles when one of its motors failed and the only one left to grieve his passing was Peter Dittman, 58, whose old, who was adopted by Dittman 50 years ago.

Dittman, himself a quiet man, died with Pelman. He knew that Pelman owned the modest little flat in which they dwelt, and after the funeral he began looking around for a will.

Valuable Finds in Shoe Boxes
He found none, but he made a series of other discoveries that amazed him. In paper shoe boxes scattered in bureau and wardrobe drawers he found more than $500 in cash and deeds of trust, notes and other negotiable papers, which were later valued at $41,618.40 by former sheriff George W. Strodtman, president of the Strodtman & Strodtman Real Estate Co., 3667 North Broadway, an old friend of Pelman, to whom Dittman had given them for an inventory.

At his request Strodtman was appointed administrator of the estate and he electric and companies were also retained to settle special disputes here.

Man Found Dead in Hotel Room.
A check for $100, due by William C. de Mille, motion picture director of Hollywood, Cal., in favor of Louis Samuel, was found on the person of a man who died today in his room at the Lafayette Hotel, 603½ Chestnut street. The man was registered under the name of Louis Samuel. His death is believed to have resulted from natural causes.

When John F. Pellman, 91 years old, of 1942A Dodder street, died a week ago Tuesday there was little comment in the neighborhood in which he spent most of his long life, except here and there an expression of sympathy for the passing of a kindly old man.

Pellman had lived frugally, largely to himself, and kept his confidences.

In keeping with his life, the funeral was without ostentation, and the only one left to grieve his passing was Peter Dittman, 58, whose old, who was adopted by Dittman 50 years ago.

'DEAD' MAN GETS A LIFE TERM FOR INSURANCE FRAUD

William H. Turner Convicted of Murdering Miner Whose Body Was Mistaken for Slayer's

WIFE COLLECTED $89,000 FOR DEATH

Defendant, Testifying in Own Behalf at Pikeville, Ky., Denied Part in Fatal Blast.

By the Associated Press
PIKEVILLE, Ky., April 29.—William H. Turner, charged with the murder of two miners and with defrauding an insurance company of $89,000, was given a life sentence by a jury in the Pike County Circuit Court here today.

Testifying in his own behalf, Turner had denied that he and his brother-in-law, Joe Jack Jr., dynamited the All-Burn Mine at McCarr, Ky., killing Henry Wilson and an unidentified man. The body of one of the miners was identified as that of Turner and relatives collected $89,000 insurance. The jury found Turner guilty of the murder of the unidentified miner.

Reputing that part of his al- leged confession in which he had named Jack Turner, brought into the case for the first time the name of Paul Topp, a miner and accused him of engineering the insurance fraud.

Turner testified he and Wilson went into the mine to shoot a charge and said that after they set the dynamite he returned to get mud to tamp down the dynamite. While going back to the mine he heard an explosion and met Topp at the entrance.

He said that Topp then suggested that he disappear and defraud the insurance company.

On cross examination, Turner said that he did not know why he had left his home upon the advice of his attorney.

Turner's wife collected insurance after Turner returned from Germany, whether he had fled, and told of the plot. Joe Jack Jr., Jack Jr., Mrs. Turner and Mrs. F. F. Farley are still to be tried for their alleged part in the conspiracy.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 29.—Suzanne Lenglen, French lawn tennis star, who is visiting Italy, denied today that she had any intention of going to America.

When asked about the agreement he had with the French Tennis Federation to go to America, she said: "I haven't the slightest intention of going to America, or playing any matches in America. I play for my own pleasure, and am completely free to do so when and where I desire."

Asked regarding the report that she intended to go into the motion pictures, she declared her features were not suited for such work.

CRIME PROBLEMS HELD TO BE LOCAL,
NO GENERAL CURE

Administration Committee of the National Crime Prevention Commission said last night that the committee report was virtually completed and would be made public within the next two or three weeks. The tentative report will now be submitted for comment to committee members who were unable to come to Washington. Hadley said the report would follow the policies outlined recently in special interviews with him appearing in the Post-Dispatch.

After the report has been submitted to the National Commission it will be available to state and national legislators seeking to improve the criminal code.

The Chancellor and Mrs. Hadley were luncheon guests of the President and Mrs. Coolidge today. They will depart tomorrow for New York, where Hadley will attend to matters pertaining to Washington University.

Gift to French Debt Fund.

DEAUVILLE, France, April 29.

The municipality has voted to contribute 50,000 francs to the voluntary fund, headed by Marshal Joffre, for the reduction of the French internal debt.

Both pens shown are 018 models.

They are made in red, mottled and black holders, with flexible lip-guard to protect cap and pocket clip to prevent loss. May be had with different pen points to suit different styles of writing.

Waterman's are guaranteed to give perfect service without time limit. Ask any one of 50,000 merchants to explain their value.

Do You Like It, and, if Not,
Why? Is One Point in Questionnaire.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 29.—Do you object to drinking, and if so why, and do you object to?

These questions, with many others, are asked students at the University of Missouri in a questionnaire by the Commission on Social Relations in a survey to discover student opinion of social activities and their general conduct.

Practically every student organization and the Students' Self-Govern- ment Association is sponsoring the survey, with the members of the Mortar Board, Women's Hon- orary Junior and Senior Organiza- tion, in charge of the canvass.

Questions cover the affiliations and social activities of students and what kind of entertainment they enjoy most. Some of the questions are: Do you dance? If so, why? How many dances do you attend each month? How many religious meetings do you attend each month, and do you enjoy them? How often do you attend teas, and do you go for enjoyment or for social obligation? Do you like parties, how often do you plan, and do you ever gamble? What kind of movies do you like? Love stories? Dramas? Comedies or tragedies? Do you like to kiss and be kissed? If not, state why.

A great majority of the students made out their answers, presumably honestly, as they were not asked to sign their names.

The results of the survey will be tabulated and made public in a few days.

which we had built up on judicial lines should be halted by any outside influence. The significance of the message as given to us was that we should take up the butter investigation and desist from any effort to conclude the sugar re-

"No repudiation of the message was ever received. Successful developments indicate that powerful influences were at work to prevent the sugar report from ever reaching the White House.

On the same day that Marvin gave his oral message from the President, Commissioner Culbertson was summoned to the White House by Secretary Stump and told of the complaint that had been made against his lecture work. Stump informed him that the charge would be referred to the Attorney-General for an opinion.

The complaint against Culbertson was used as already told. No further effort was made to amend it.

The President gave him permission to take part in the round-table discussions at Williamsburg that summer. As to the Georgetown lectures, what the witness described as a "truth" was de- clared. Culbertson finished out the fall term at the university and then withdrew from the staff.

Sugar Work Not Sidelined.

The butter investigation was ordered, but was not allowed by the majority of the commission to sidetrack the work on sugar.

Ten Stowaways Die In Ship's Coal Holds

Others of 42 Arabs Who Hid Aboard Steamer in Algiers May Have Perished on Journey to France.

By the Associated Press.

MARSEILLE, France, April 29.—Ten Arab stowaways of the 41 who hid in coal bins aboard the steamer Sidi Ferruch, met death during a rough crossing from Algiers to Marseilles, and it is feared the death toll may reach 20.

The bodies, bruised and blackened by pounding of coal as they lay in the holds of the vessel when she reached port, workers have begun a search for the remainder of the 41 stowaways who it has been learned, were aboard at Algiers. Several men dug out of the bunkers, they refused to leave their hiding places.

According to information gained from the ship's crew, the Arabs were smuggled aboard upon payment of 200 francs each for illegal entry into France. Some were hidden near boilers and others in an improvised grotto under blocks of coal. When the Sidi Ferruch was tossed violently during a storm, the ship, packed with huge masses, buried the stowaways.

Marseilles firemen were put to work as soon as the ship reached port clearing the coal holes. Mayor Plaizier, a doctor by profession, went to the Sidi Ferruch and examined the recovered bodies. He estimated that death had occurred about 24 hours before.

Receiving the case at 2:55 p. m. yesterday, after three hours of arguments to a conclusion, the jury deliberated for three hours had dinner and spent two hours more in its room last night.

Under watch of a Deputy Marshal the jurors spent the night at a downtown hotel. They returned to consideration of the case at 9 a. m. today.

way of prompt completion of the sugar report.

When a motion was made in May, 1924, to take up the sugar report, Glassie made a point of order against it. Commissioner Lewis asserted that, in view of the congressional ban, his activity was improper. Chairman Marvin, supporting Glassie, replied that the ban would not take effect until July 1, the effective date of the appropriation bill which dealt with the Glassie case.

"I thought," said Costigan, "that if Commissioner Glassie participated even prior to July 1, his right to his sugar bill would be forfeited."

The motion, which caused the controversy, was finally adopted, with Glassie not voting. An effort was then made by Commissioner Burgess to have the sugar report referred to the advisory board of the commission. This was done.

Costigan explained to the committee that reference to the advisory board would have delayed discussion of the report by the commission to the fall. The sugar investigation had cost $75,000 and had been under way for more than a year.

Costigan and his friends on the commission thought that further delay would subject the commission to justified criticism.

There followed a period of unbroken strife in the commission between Culbertson, Costigan and Lewis, who formed in that proceeding after the disbandment of Commissioner Glassie by act of Congress, a majority of the commission.

Costigan told of a long series of "fillibuster interruptions" by Glassie and by Commissioners Marvin and Burgess—the two Harding appointees whom he has described in previous testimony as ex-lobbyists before Congressional committees for high tariff legislation.

Even after Congress, by an amendment to an appropriation bill, had barred Glassie from consideration of the sugar case, because of the financial interest of his wife and his wife's family in the sugar industry, Glassie con- continued, according to the testimony, to throw obstacles in the way.

"Never," he continued, "have I been more troubled than I was by Culbertson's report of what had taken place at the White House. Remember that Commissioner Culbertson was then threatened with public disgrace, through a charge leveled at him by a disappointed applicant before the commission, and that the Attorney-General had

APPEAL IN BEHALF OF CONDEMNED NEGRO

Counsel First to Seek New Trial at Clayton—Five Executions in County.

If Robert Johnson, Negro ex-convict, is hanged for a criminal attack on Mrs. Mabel Paenger in her home near Webster Groves, March 9, as a jury at Clayton ruled Tuesday night, he will be the sixth man to be legally executed in St. Louis County.

Three Negroes and two white men have been hanged for murder at the Clayton jail, the first execution there being on July 27, 1894, when Harry Duncan, Negro, was hanged for the murder of Patrolman James Brady in a St. Louis saloon in 1890. He was tried at Clayton on a change of venue.

On May 11, 1895, James Murray, a Negro, was hanged for the murder of Midland car conductor. His brother, Edward, was hanged at Hermann for the same crime on a change of venue.

On Feb. 16, 1897, there was a double hanging. Peter (Cotton) Smith, a white man, and Samuel Foster, Negro, were executed for the murder of Bertram Atwater, a Chicago salesman, in an attempted holdup.

The last hanging at Clayton was that of William Sprague on July 16, 1915, for the murder of his wife. If Johnson is hanged it will be the first execution for a crime other than murder.

Counsel for the Negro have announced they will move for a new trial this week. If the motion is refused, as is expected, they will appeal to the Supreme Court within the next 30 days.

MAN ROBBED WHEN SEATED IN AUTO WITH WOMAN COMPANION

Another's Car and $15 Taken When He Drove Up With Girl in Front of Her Home.

While John Stewart of 6458 Wellman avenue, Wellston, and Miss Helen Sandsbury of 6402 Derby avenue were seated in Stewart's automobile on Natural Bridge road, near the Lucas and Hunt road, at 9 o'clock last evening, they were held up by two robbers who approached in a touring car.

The robbers took $20 and a watch and chain from Stewart and hit him over the head when he asked them to give him the watch back. He obtained the license number of the car and police, traced it, found that it had been stolen from L. E. Harmer of 5911 McPherson avenue, when parked at Bayard avenue and Delmar boulevard earlier in the evening.

Louis Deekin of 2227 University street, reported to police that at 10 o'clock last evening two men held him up and robbed him of $15 and his automobile. He and Miss Gladys Staats of 5935 Washington boulevard, had just drawn up in front of her home when the robbers appeared.

NO MURDER IN BRIDGE
MYSTERY, POLICE THINK

Evidence Points to Accident or Despondent Act of G. F.
Simmonds.

New light was thrown on the movements of Glendon F. Simmonds of 3917 North Ninth street, whose body was found Monday morning beside the Municipal Bridge approach in East St. Louis, in statements obtained by East St.
Louis Detectives yesterday.

These statements tend to strengthen the police belief that Simmonds, who was 28 years old, and assistant superintendent of an East St. Louis insurance agency, jumped off the bridge intentionally, despondent because a married woman with whom he had been friendly had gone back to her husband, or had fallen off accidentally.

Austell Moore, of 3917A North Ninth street, an oil salesman, who told the detectives he and Simmonds had driven around East St. Louis Sunday afternoon, winding up at a "homebrew joint" downtown, declared further that it was he who had telephoned to a cigar store near Simmonds' home, summoning Simmonds to East St. Louis. Moore said he left Simmonds at the homebrew place at 6:10 p. m. Sunday and spent the night in St. Louis.

Three men and the wives of two of them, all of whom were at this home brew place Sunday, were arrested yesterday for questioning and then released. They all asserted that Simmonds had left there intoxicated about 20 minutes after Moore left, having bought several rounds of drinks, spending about $5 and having about $5 left.

There was only 5 cents in a turned-out pocket of Simmonds' trousers when the body was found, which led to an initial theory of robbery and murder. He had left home in the morning with $14.

Reading of the case in the papers, John Watson, a saloon keeper at 101 North Third street, East St. Louis, volunteered the information to police that Simmonds came to his place at 7:30 p. m., appearing intoxicated and "acting goofy," and tried to sell Watson an insurance policy. He spent nothing there and left about 8 o'clock. Watson related.

A Coroner's inquest in Simmonds' death will be held this evening.

Thorne, Marshall grand organist.

BOY FAILS TO IDENTIFY MAN AS WHISKY SELLER

Case Against Saloon Keeper Dismissed; John Springmeyer, 10, Could Not Recognize Him.

Failure of a 10-year-old boy to identify Harry Hunt, proprietor of a saloon at 2201 Madison street, as the man from whom he had purchased a half pint of whisky Jan. 15, last, resulted in dismissal of a charge of possession and sale of intoxicating liquor against Hunt yesterday by Judge Gayer of the Court of Criminal Correction.

The warrant was issued against Hunt after the boy, John Spring-meyer, of 1814 North Twenty-third street, had declared that he had purchased the whisky from Hunt.

MONUMENT TO NEGRO SOLDIERS

House Votes $30,000 for Erection of Tribute in France

WASHINGTON, April 29.—In the face of almost solid opposition from Democrats, the House, by a vote of 226 to 116, has passed a bill to authorize a $30,000 appropriation for erection in France of a monument as a tribute to Negro troops of the 93d Division.

Democratic opponents resorted to filibustering tactics, but the bill, which now goes to the Senate, was pressed to a vote after a motion by Representative Connally of Texas to refer it back to the Foreign Affairs Committee had been rejected.
The bill was sponsored by Representative Fish (Rep.) of New York, who served as an af-ficer with the division which was brigaded with the French. Among the few Republicans opposing it, was Chairman Porter of the For-ign Affairs Committee, who was of the opinion it would interfere with the work of the American Battle Monuments Commission.

PUNITIVE DAMAGES GIVEN IN AUTO CASE

First Instance of Kind Here—Defendant Knew Steering Gear Was Defective.

The first punitive damage award ever given in the St. Louis Circuit Court against a defendant in an automobile accident case was that voted yesterday by a jury in Judge Rosskopf's court.

The verdict was for $12,500 in favor of Mrs. Thomas Markle of Normandy, Mo., of which $10,000 was actual and $2,500 punitive damages against Bernard J. Thole, 7024 Pershing Avenue, an attorney, whose automobile collided with a car occupied by Mrs. Markle, injuring her. Her husband, Dr. Edward Markle, who was driving, also has a damage suit pending against Thole.

Punitive damages were based on Thole's admission that the accident was caused when his machine swerved as the steering gear failed to function properly. The defect was known to him before the accident, said.

When Edward W. Boristel learned that Thole knew of the defect, he asked for punitive damages for his client. Judge Rosskopf instructed the jurors that if they believed that defendant took his automobile on a public highway knowing the steering apparatus to be defective, thus endangering others using the highway, he was liable for punitive damages.

Punitive or exemplary damages are given in addition to the actual loss in order to punish and make an example of an offender.

GERMAN COMMUNITY HOUSE FUND CAMPAIGN

Richard Bartholdt, Head of Committee, Calls Plan Ameri-canizing Influence.

A campaign for funds for the erection and furnishing of a German Community House, on a Lafayette avenue site east of Grand boulevard, will be carried on by a committee headed by former Congressman Richard Bartholdt. The site, which has been purchased by the German House Society, Inc., is opposite Reservoir Park. It has a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 260 feet.

Plans for the building include a large auditorium, a gymnasium, reading room, billiard hall and bowling alley, cafe and rathskeller.
The cost of building and furnishing is estimated at $400,000. The German Theater will be accommodated in the auditorium. In accepting the chairmanship of the movement, Bartholdt said:

"The necessity of a common shelter for the many homogeneous German societies in this city is obvious.
There can be no possible objection from an American viewpoint to the members of these organizations speaking their language, singing their songs and pursuing their cultural aspirations."

"A social home for American citizens of German extraction and for the elder German immigrants will also be a powerful attraction for the thousands of newcomers who, because of the lack of it, might easily fall into less desirable company. In this sense a German House will be a decided Americanizing influence, and, therefore, highly desirable for patriotic reasons.
So let us understand once and for all that though the language of the new home be German,
its spirit must be now and for all time American, and our undivided allegiance must forever belong to the country of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln."

TESTIFIED HE HAD ONLY $300, BUT GIVES TRUSTEES $2000

Harry Goldblum, Bankrupt Merchant, Turns Over Money for Distribution to Creditors.

Harry Goldblum, proprietor of the bankrupt General Variety Store, 2716 Franklin avenue, who,
at a series of hearings in the bankruptcy of his concern, testified that his assets totaled less than $300, today, through his attorneys, turned over $2000 to Trustees Joseph M. Reardon for distribution to creditors.

Goldblum, his wife and her parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Cohen, all of 1356 McCausland avenue, had been cited to show cause why they should not produce $7900 in unlisted assets. The money was accepted by Reardon with the consent of Referee Cole and Goldblum's creditors and was followed by the dismissal of the order to show cause. It is expected that the final order closing the case will follow shortly.

Goldblum filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy last January, listing debts of $13,000 and assets of but $278 above exemptions. In testifying Goldblum attributed his failure to poor business and heavy personal expenses.

BRITISH LABOR TO SUPPORT MINERS IN CASE OF STRIKE

Executive Council of Affiliated Crafts Adopts Resolution Pending Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, April 29.—General support of the miners by all the trades unions, in the event there is no settlement of the coal dispute is promised in a resolution adopted today by the Executive Council of the unions affiliated with the trade unions congress.

While no decision was taken regarding a general strike, some of the union leaders unofficially predicted that such a course would be pursued in the event the coal negotiations, in which the miners are fighting a wage reduction failed.

Arthur Henderson, one of the labor leaders, said the situation was hopeful to the extent that the parties were still negotiating. Premier Baldwin is continuing his intensive conferences with both sides.

Make your ice-box a Frigidaire

This you can do easily—and if you like, the payments for the transformation can be made on convenient terms. The Frigidaire unit is made for any good ice-box of any size. It will work for you silently, without attention, for many years to come.

Frigidaire maintains a dry, uniform, cold temperature in every cubic inch of compartment space. It keeps all foods—cooked, raw, liquid, or solid —as they ought to be kept. There's no melting, no waste, no spoiled foods.
It freezes all the ice cubes you need,
just right for glass, pitcher, or bowl.
It makes a hundred frozen desserts too.

Frigidaire is made and guaranteed by the world's largest builder of electric refrigerators—Delco-Light Company, Dayton, Ohio, subsidiary of General Motors Corporation. This means that you get thorough workmanship, and every economy made possible by tremendous buying power and highly developed engineering skill.

There are more than 150,000
Frigidaires now in use—further evidence of the superior service which Frigidaire renders to its owner.

Come in and see the new low-priced metal cabinet Frigidaires. Or telephone or write for the Frigidaire catalog.

PARALYZED WOMAN COMPOSES OPERA

Right Played Music for Her as She Chirped—Work to Be Staged Saturday.

My friend, who from the New York success of the Post-Dispatch, NEW YORK, April 28.—On Saturday night, upon the small stage of "Gulliver's" in the Steinway Building, there will be performed an opera, composed and dictated by Miss Janet B. Williams, while she lies on a couch in her room in Carnegie Hall unable to move except the head, which she can move only a quarter of an inch.

Miss Williams began five years ago. In the two years she has been in bed, she has supported herself entirely by continuing her singing lessons. In the last three months she has worked over and finished the final form of the opera, partly composed many years ago.

"You see," she said, "I can talk without difficulty and I can work for 10 hours at a stretch without becoming tired. I find my recumbent position actually has helped my teaching. I have more pupils now than I have ever had. I can't sing, of course, but I think teaching by imitation is not the best way to teach anyway. I find my mind is better than before I became ill. It is easier for me to concentrate."

"It never occurred to me for a long time that I could continue to compose while lying down, but about three months ago I remembered this little opera, 'The Niebelungen Ring Junior.' It is something of a parody of the Wagnerian cycle. I had written down partially a lot while ago. I decided to finish it."

"I dictated the notes to Elsie Ketten, who was a pupil of mine and has been my assistant since my illness. She sat at the piano and I told her the notes and the chords I wanted. Then she would play them. The method was not easy at first, but now I have got so I can get in my mind the notes I have."

INVESTORS IN NORTHWESTERN ROADS PLAN TO ORGANIZE

Committee Urges Co-Operation to Obtain Fair Return on Their Securities.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Co-operative and direct action by security holders of all Northwestern railroads in seeking higher freight rates is advocated by a committee representing $240,156,720 of bonds and stocks of these carriers. The committee is composed of Lewis B. Garrow, W. Emlen Roosevelt, Van Santvoord Merle-Smith and C. H. Barber.

In a letter addressed to security holders, the committee suggested that they organize independently of the railroad management in seeking a fair return upon their securities. Diversity of interest and other causes, it was said, made it impossible for the Northwestern lines to work together and independent action was declared to be essential in order to gain the necessary rate relief.

The letter was addressed to security holders of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; Chicago & Northwestern; Northern Pacific; Great Northern; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, and the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie.

MISS HARRIET MURPHY

"It was only after years of being embarrassed with shiny, oily complexion, and searching vainly for help, that I found Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream," says Miss Harriet Murphy, 1012 N. 66th St., Philadelphia, Pa. "This pure, snowy cream not only makes my skin look smooth, fresh and lovely, but is correcting the excessive oiliness."

An invisible film of Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream keeps the natural oil, so necessary to the skin's softness and suppleness, from coming out on the surface, where the benefit is lost and the complexion's appearance marred. You can get this delightful cream from your dealer in 50c and 25c jars.

Best results come from using Black and White Skin Soap along with the Black and White Beauty Creations.

NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

AGAIN GETS DIVORCE

Former Decree, Which Author Obtained From R. J. Sanders, Son, Had Been Vacated.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 29.—Nina Wilcox Putnam, the writer, has obtained in Florida that divorce from R. J. Sanders that once was granted by Rhode Island and then vacated.

A final decree was signed yesterday in West Palm Beach. Miss Wilcox charged desertion.

She married Sanders in Stamford, Conn., in 1919, and they lived together until July, 1923. She divorced her husband in Providence, but the decree was vacated two years ago after the legality of her residence was questioned.

Shortly afterward Mrs. Ellsworth Bassett of Madison, Conn., sued Miss Putnam for alienation of her husband's affections. Bassett was the writer's business manager and had been her chauffeur. Sanders after retaining a counsel with a view to a divorce, announced: "I have investigated the Bassett charges and found them to be absolute without foundation."

Miss Putnam said that she had hired Bassett at Mrs. Bassett's request, because he needed help. Miss Putnam denied she had ever suggested with Bassett a plan for him to get a divorce so they could marry. She instructed Bassett to attempt to straighten out his domestic affairs. First attempts at reconciliation failed, but later the alienation suit was withdrawn.

Miss Putnam's present home is Delray, Fla.

URGES CONGRESS TO PASS APPORTIONMENT BILL

Woman Member Says Constitutional Mandate Has Been Neglected for Ten Years.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 29.—Congressional reapportionment in obedience to the mandate of the constitution was urged today by Representative Florence P. Kahn (Rep.) of California.

Mrs. Kahn, making her first speech in the House, declared that Congress, by failing to reapportion its membership after the 1920 census, had evaded the Constitution and denied proper representation to many States.

The House Census Committee has twice voted at this session to pigeonhole reapportionment bills.

"Those who endeavor to justify this plain evasion of the Constitution say the census of 1920 was not a true indication of the population of the various sections," Mrs. Kahn said. "The claim that the agricultural districts will not get a fair representation, that the urban population will far outnumber the rural sections, has been a convincing argument to those representing agricultural districts. But this urban gain and rural loss will be greater in 1930, for instead of being an aftermath of the war, it has steadily continued and this shift from country to city is still in progress."

ALIENATION SUIT FOR $125,000

Mrs. Margaret Howard Accuses Milwaukee Widow.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wisc., April 29.—Demanding $125,000 for loss of her husband's love after 22 years of wedded life, Mrs. Margaret Howard of Haverhill, Mass., has filed suit against Mrs. Eleanor Phillips, widow of Frank B. Phillips, formerly head of a large lithographing company.

Mrs. Howard, who says she is still the wife of John F. Howard despite a divorce which he obtained in Mexico, charged that Mrs. Phillips enticed her husband to go to Mexico to obtain his decree. Mrs. Howard charged that the Mexican divorce is illegal.

Briefs on Prescription Whisky.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Two briefs—one by Solicitor-General Mitchell for the Government, the other by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League—have been filed in the United States Supreme Court in support of the validity of the prohibition law provision under which physicians are permitted to prescribe only a pint of alcoholic liquor to a patient each 10 days.

YOU CAN'T DANCE ON CORNS!

There Isn't an Excuse in the World for Tolerating Corns or Callouses Since "END-O-CORN."

It is your own fault if you allow corns or callous spots to remain on your feet. No one, whether he has tried various corn cures or not, perhaps you have a VASCULAR corn that nothing but "END-O-CORN" will remove. Liquid corn cures are not only unsatisfactory and worthless in many cases, but they are also often dangerous.

"END-O-CORN" is absolutely harmless and will not burn or absolutely damage the surrounding flesh. It is far more pleasant to use and also much more dependable than any other corn remedy. Every package contains a money guarantee that you can CASH AT ANY BANK ANYWHERE, if all your corns and callouses are not removed by "END-O-CORN."

"END-O-CORN" has been tested and endorsed by the following druggists, but if they are not near you and your neighbor druggist doesn't have it, write to END-O-CORN, 1000 BROADWAY, 1 Garfield Blvd., Chicago, and we will see that you receive a jar. N. M. BUTLER SAYS
AMENDMENT IS INV

Columbia U. President
Public Opinion Now Favors Repeal of Section

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 28.—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, declared that the Antisaloon League was the most pernicious enemy of the public that has been produced in my lifetime.

Butler, speaking at the annual dinner of the Phi Delta Fraternity last night said that the League is the most pernicious enemy of the public that has been produced in my lifetime.

He said that if such a thing were done by the steel corporations by buying interests, it would reach high heaven.

Would Repeat Amendment
Butler advocated repeal of the prohibition amendment. He said it cannot be enforced "without violating the bill of rights, the Constitution and statutes as old as the hills."

"The eighteenth amendment," he said, "is invalid outside the scope of the amending power of the American Congress. The government simply refused to say so, leaving it a political question and one the people must get out of the Constitution or pay the penalty."

Butler compared the future of the eighteenth amendment to the history of the fourteenth and eighteenth amendments enacted to insure equal protection of the law to Negroes and to grant them the ballot.

These amendments, he said, were practically invalid in large sections of the country.

"You are face to face with the things," he said. "You've got to let the prohibition amendment go the way of the fourteenth and eighteenth and repeat it. If it goes the way of the fourteenth and the eighteenth what is the effect going to be on youth? How will it contribute to the crime movement?"

"Return to Decency." "We must repeat the Volstead Act to return to truth, decency, common sense and law observance—violated all—it was intended to violate all of them. The man who drew me into this was what was wrong with it."

Butler expressed the belief that public opinion had been reversed on the prohibition question in the last year and now favors repeal. He said he had just come from Georgia, where "it is illegal for a physician to prescribe whisky to a dying patient—consequently everybody has it."

He said he believed the South and the West would favor repeal when the question were presented them properly.

N. M. BUTLER SAYS DRINKING AMENDMENT IS INVADABLE

Columbia U. President THOMAS MURRAY BUTLER says Public Opinion Now Favors Repeal of Section.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 29.—Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, declared that the Antisaloon League was the most pernicious enemy of the public that has been produced in my lifetime.

Butler, speaking at the annual dinner of the Phi Psi Union Club last night, said that the league had United States Senators and Representatives on its payroll—the $35,000,000 they boasted about the other day in Washington—"and paid their expenses in transporting them about the country to speak in favor of prohibition."

He said that if such a thing were done by the steel corporations or by banking interests "there would be a hue and cry that would reach high heaven."

Would Repeal Amendment.
Butler advocated repeal of the prohibition amendment. He said it cannot be enforced "without violating the bill of rights, the Constitution and statutes as old as the hills."

"The eighteenth amendment," he said, "is invalid and outside of the scope of the amendment, power of the American Congress. The courts simply refused to say so, leaving it a political question and one that the people must get out of the Constitution or pay the penalty."

Butler compared the future of the eighteenth amendment to the history of the fourteenth and nineteenth amendments enacted to insure equal protection of the law to Negroes and to grant them the ballot.

These amendments, he said, were practically invalid in large sections of the country.

"You are face to face with two things," he said. "You've got to let the prohibition amendment go the way of the fourteenth or fifteenth or repeal it. If it goes the way of the fourteenth and fifteenth what is the effect going to be on you? How will it contribute to the crime movement?"

"Return to Decency." "We must repeat the Volestead act, return to truth, decency, common sense and law observance—it violates all that was intended to violate all of them. The men that drew it knew that was what it would do."

Butler expressed the belief that public opinion had been reversed on the prohibition question in the last year and now favors repeal. He said he had just come from Georgia, where "it is illegal for a physician to prescribe whisky for a dying patient—consequently everybody has it."

He said he believed the South and the West would favor repeal. The question was presented to them properly.

SAYS BIG UNIVERSITIES
WANT NO PIOUS JEWS

G. A. Rogers and Adolph Lewisohn Charge Discrimination Against the Race.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch, NEW YORK, April 29.—The great American colleges and universities are discriminating against Jews in the entrance quotas assigned to various "preparatory schools. Adolph Lewisohn and Gustavus A. Rogers, lawyers, both charged at a luncheon which Lewisohn gave, at the Bankers' Club, a plan to raise $1,000,000 for a proposed Jewish school here.

Rogers said several universities, particularly those in the East, have let preparatory school heads understand that when they filled the quotas assigned them they had better leave Jews out.

"I have been informed through several reliable and authoritative sources that this is true," he said. Lewisohn made the specific charge that his own grandsons had been thus excluded by one of the "biggest universities."

Rogers said afterward that the charge in the information given him "included" Harvard, Dartmouth, Princeton, Columbia and many others of the country's great institutions of learning.

"It is not a matter of absolute exclusion so much as restriction and discrimination," he said. "The universities themselves are not exactly opposed to having Jews in their student body, but want only what they consider the Jew is up to their social standard, in other words, the intelligent but irreligious Jew who does not follow Jewish doctrines. They do not want the pious Jew."

Their attitude is not racial, in my opinion, but rather a fear of revolt by the Christian student body and the Christian parents. The schools fear a Christian rebellion by students who do not care to associate with Jews and fear a predominance of Jews in their student bodies. They wish to bring the number of Jewish students to an irreducible minimum and keep it there."

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 29.—Harvard authorities have reiterated their previous statements that there is no exclusion of Jews from the university. Henry Pennypacker, chairman of the Committee on Admissions, said the only limitation is that holding the freshman class to 1000 in number. He said no quotas are assigned to schools or to racial groups.

CITY TO TAKE AN APPEAL IN FOREST PARK SPEEDING CASE

Test of Ordinance Limiting Autos to Eight Miles an Hour in Public Parks Planned.

To determine the validity of an ordinance limiting the speed of machines to eight miles an hour in public parks, Alvin F. Hackman, Assistant City Counselor, today announced that he will make a test case against a man charged with driving 25 miles an hour in Forest Park on Feb. 10 last.

Denver W. Wright, 36 years old, 1618 Annable Avenue, Webster Groves, was discharged of the speeding charge yesterday by Police Judge Rosecan, so that the city might appeal the decision, thereby testing the ordinance. Hackman said the case will not be taken higher than the Court of Criminal Correction.

WIFE BARES PAST IN COURT

Woman, 61, Says She Told Present Husband All About It.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The story of her past, told frankly on the stand Tuesday to Supreme Court Justice Druhan in Brooklyn, won a victory yesterday for Mrs. Adel Abrahamian, 61 years old, in the suit of her husband, Antranik Abrahamian, wealthy diamond merchant, who is 26 years her junior, for annulment of their marriage. Justice Druhn held that Abrahamian must continue paying his wife alimony granted when she obtained a separation decree three years ago.

Abrahamian alleged that his wife, married twice before she was married to him 10 years ago, concealed from him the fact that before their marriage she had had two lovers, in addition to her two former husbands. Going back 43 years, Mrs. Abrahamian gave the history of her marriages and loves to date and testified that she told Abrahamian all about them before they were married.

Young G. O. P. Committee Named. George M. Hagee, president of the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri, announced today appointment of the following Executive Committee: Albert I. Beach, Kansas City; Harry E. McPherson, St. Joseph; Charles W. Miller, O'Fallon; Mrs. Guy H. Waring, Orono; and James A. Finch, New Madrid. They will have charge of plans for the Lincoln day banquet next year, which probably will be held in St. Louis. An effort will be made to have President Coolidge as the principal speaker.

A symbol of service

YOU have seen this monogram, perhaps, on the turbine of a battleship, the generator of your light and power company, or the full name spelled out on some of the large General Electric factories in Schenectady, Bridgeport, Pittsfield, Lynn or Fort Wayne.

That monogram of G-E, whether on the factories or the products of those factories, represents something more than engineering genius and manufacturing skill. It represents, as well, a friendly relationship with the public that can only be conserved and furthered by reliable representation of G-E Distributors and G-E Dealers.

Distributors in 87 cities

G-E Merchandise Distributors in 87 principal cities, are prepared to serve G-E Dealers and Contractors so well that they, in turn, will be fully equipped to serve the public well, and thus enhance the friendly significance of the G-E Monogram.

Contractor-dealers in every community

When you see G-E merchandise in a dealer's window, you have visible evidence that the cycle of service is nearly complete. When you make your purchases from such a dealer, and your own good-will has been earned, the cycle of service, symbolized by the monogram, has been completed.

General Electric quality products are stored in the warehouses of its strategically located distributors. These distributors constitute a vital link in the chain of G-E service to the public. Their complete stocks, prompt deliveries, and merchandising services are available to G-E Contractors and Dealers in the efficient and courteous contacts of the latter with the public.

YOUTH GETS SECOND 25-YEAR SENTENCE

Frank O'Brien, 19, Sent to Prison for Both Murder and Robbery.

Frank O'Brien, 19 years old, who recently received a 25-year prison term for shooting a policeman, yesterday received another 25-year sentence for robbing a storekeeper.

The robbery charge was based on a $40 holdup Dec. 1 at James McGahan's confectionery, 1318 Hickory street. McGahan and several customers identified O'Brien as one of the three robbers. His brother, Charles O'Brien, 15, and Lisle Jeffress, 17, are charged with being the other robbers and will be tried later.

The O'Brien brothers and Jeffress and three other men were indicted for assault to kill in connection with the shooting Dec. 6 of Traffic Policeman Theodore Funk when the latter arrested them for speeding. Frank O'Brien, the first to be tried, was convicted and sentenced to 25 years imprisonment. The shooting of the policeman was the culmination of a series of holdups by the six, according to confessions made at the time of their arrest.

Both verdicts of guilty were returned against Frank O'Brien by Jurors in Circuit Judge Landwehr's Court. He must serve 50 years less time off for good behavior, unless he is paroled or pardoned.

Injury to Foot Fatal to Worker.
August Haarstick, 78 years old, died in this home, 3321 South Ninth street, yesterday of blood poisoning. He suffered an injury to his right foot March 26, in the malt house of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., where he was employed, when he became caught in a power machine.

SAYS RAILWAY EMPLOYEES
WROTE U. S. LAND REPORT

Witness Before Congressional Commission Says Northern Pacific Holds Acreage Thus Acquired.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 29.—Representatives of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co. are charged by James W. Edwards, a former land examiner and appraiser for the company, with writing the reports of Government commissioners who classified 3,700,000 acres of Federal land granted to it in the Pacific Northwest.

Edwards, who was made before a Congressional Commission investigating grants to the company and its successor, the Northern Pacific Railway Co.

Testifying under oath, Edwards, who lives at Chatcolet, Idaho, told of the activities of the three commissioners sent to examine the land grants for mineral deposits, the Government proposing to exchange mineral land for other tracts.

As an employee of the railroad,
he at times worked with the commissioners, he said, adding that the reports were written by railroad representatives who accompanied them.
The lands, he declared, previously had been examined by the railroad's agents.

The commissioners were accompanied, Edwards asserted, by two railroad employees, an examiner and a "cruiser" as guide. In response to a question by Representative Sinnott (Rep.) of Oregon, who heads the investigating group, he said that the commission was "dominated by the company, influenced by the company."

"I simply wish to say," the witness added, "that all the classifications that were made, that were shown in those men's reports, were not made by the men themselves but by the examiner and cruiser of the Northern Pacific who were with the commission at the time."

D. F. McGowan, attorney for the Forestry Service, has contended that the 3,700,000 acres were erroneously classified as mineral lands and that the railroad already has received 1,300,000 acres in lieu of them. The inquiry started more than a year ago when the railway company sought to obtain additional acreage which it holds is still due.

OUR Coat buyer made a most successful purchase in securing such Coats as these to sell for $15. Such remarkable values are rarities. Featured in the group are the wanted cape-back, flared or straightline models in the correct shades of tan, gray, blue and brilliant blacks. Squirrel and other fur trims, modish new sleeves, rich metallic embroidery, etc.

The four Coats pictured are typical of the smartness of the entire group. There is such a great selection of fabrics and models that every figure can be well "Coated."

$100,000 A YEAR LOST
BY ELECTRICITY THEFT

Current "Jumpers" Cost Company That Much, Louis H. Egan Asserts.

About $100,000 is lost yearly by the Union Electric Light & Power Co. through its customers using "jumpers" to divert electricity from being measured in meters, according to President Egan of the Union Electric in discussing the case of a Bartmer avenue resident before the Public Service Commission yesterday. The complainant alleged the public service company was refusing to supply him electricity, which the company admitted, declaring the complainant diverted electricity by using a "jumper."

"We discover on an average of three persons every day using devices to cheat the company out of its lawful bills," Egan declared. "There must be at least 1000 cases a year. It is an imposition on the remainder of the community because the Union Electric is forced to charge them a higher rate to make up for the loss which practice is not confined to this power. It seems to be a complex existing independent from the desire to save money. The people think that it is afeat, clever and justifiable."

An "Artistic Kick" In It. "Some of them seem to get an artistic kick in creating some contraption out of clothes pins, hairpins and wire, that diverts the current. When they are caught, if they admit it they declare the loss will not hurt the Union Electric while the amount saved means something to them."

After telling of the danger involved to those who tamper with the electric wires, and of a blind man who at some risk successfully constructed a "jumper," Egan took the Post-Dispatch reporter to an office of the office. There he examined a man and a boy who had constructed a "jumper." When asked why he had attached the contraption to the meter the boy declared he was interested in mechanics and had heard men at a show tell of how easily it could be done.

Special Meter Boxes.

Egan declared the company was now installing in many cases, a specially constructed box, in which the meter is contained, preventing anyone from diverting the current. He said it was possible that such boxes would be universally installed but declared he did not think it necessary, at present.

SAYS CITY EMPLOYEES ARE FORCED INTO MILLER CLUBS

Alderman Neu Seeks Investigation of Possible Charter Violation by Marshal Duffy.

Charge that City Marshal Duffy is threatening city employees with dismissal if they fail to join Mayor Miller's ward organizations were made yesterday by Alderman Neu of the Thirteenth Ward. In introducing a resolution before the Board of Aldermen, asking for an investigation.

Neu asked for the appointment of a committee to determine whether Marshal Duffy is violating Section 12, Article 18 of the City Charter which forbids punishment of municipal employees because of their political affiliations. Alderman Neu asserted five city employees, living in the Thirteenth Ward, have been threatened by Marshal Duffy, who was appointed by Mayor Miller last May.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the world, but I will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Help the Humane Society.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I was on Boyle and Olive; a strapping big man, with a stick about two inches thick and almost as long as he was tall, chasing, and trying to catch, a defenseless little dog that had evidently committed the terrible sin of running away. The man cut a ridiculous figure, but all that was lost sight of in pity for the dog. I have tried to get the picture out of my mind, but my heart aches for the poor little dog, if he was finally caught; poor little fellow, at one end of that cruel stick and the brute of a man at the other. He wanted to wait for his master, and several times he stopped and waited and seemed to be asking forgiveness, but the sight of the stick was too much for his little doggy courage and he'd run off again. Each time, I adding more blows to the score the man would settle with him.

Your paper has always been an instrument for good, trying to do something to help the unfortunate ones. Can't you start a movement to arouse in people, if not a love of animals, at least some interest in their welfare? Our Humane Society is a good institution, but it must have, in order to function properly, the support of the public, both in sympathy and financial aid. Other cities support their Humane Societies in a manner that should make St. Louisans blush. I believe it is only because we need to be aroused to the crying needs here. Can't you do something to bring this about?

How about the Community Fund? Why have they eliminated the Humane Society from their list? The latter organization is such a fine thing that it is hard to understand their discrimination against our dumb friends, who must look to us for protection and take whatever we give them, good or bad; and whenever it is they love us.

A SINCERE LOVER OF THE HELPLESS.

Property Owners' Grievances.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AFTER reading letters of taxpayers and home owners in regards to excessive tax burdens, I believe what we need in our city is an organization of property owners for the protection of our homes as well as other investments. Taxes increase every year, salaries of all mechanics rise; many laws, good and bad, are passed. Owners of homes and property have no voice in the matter. Tenants get ugly, demand big improvements in their homes, hold good jobs, enjoy the luxuries of life, while home owners play the goat for the rest of the bunch, getting insulted by bad tenants. We need an organization in St. Louis to get rid of the rent dodger, the bold tenant, excessive taxes and bad laws.

ST. LOUIS TO THE FRONT.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In your April 27 issue appears a letter signed "Safety First, Left and Always," which calls attention to what is probably the most frequently broken law in the traffic code of St. Louis.

There is a way of driving your car in making a left turn which will leave little doubt as to your intention in the minds of drivers following you, and no new invention is needed to take the place of common-sense driving. This method is simply the one provided by the traffic law of our city.

On page 5 of the "Abstract of St. Louis Traffic Laws," prepared by the City Register, and freely given out at any police station, you will find provision that a driver wishing to make a left-hand turn shall "approach the intersecting street so that the left side of his vehicle shall be as near as practicable to the center line of the street along which he is proceeding." This section also describes the legal hand signal for this turn (hand extended below horizontal), but sensibly provides that the use of a proper "stop" light makes the hand signal unnecessary.

Yet many drivers seem to know nothing of this provision of our code, and I have seen many drivers, evidently thinking they were using great care, drive to the right hand curb, with arm outstretched, and then swing into a left turn! The drivers following them are sure to think they wish to stop at the curb, and their left swing is a complete surprise.

Safe driving is largely a matter of common sense, and the driver who handles his car as provided in the traffic code in preparing to make a left turn will be doing all that is reasonably necessary in securing "safety first, left and always," both for himself and those who follow him in traffic.

THE CRIME-PREVENTION JOB

F. Trubee Davison, chairman of the National Crime Commission, speaking of the nation-wide program to combat crime, said a reassuring word with regard to the objects of the crime commission and the part the Federal Government would play in it.

Remarking that the National Crime Commission has no ambition except to be helpful, and to stimulate those upon whose shoulders the real responsibility rests, he says: "It believes the task of actually applying such remedies as may be found and converting theories into practices lies upon the individual states and upon the citizens thereof."

Mr. Davison says flatly that neither the national Government nor any national organization could take the place of the states, and that the commission's program will be strictly in accordance with this policy.

The work of the commission is divided practically into two fields. The immediate and pressing task is to reform the administration of justice, with view to the speedy and sure conviction and punishment of persons found guilty of crime. Another task, perhaps even more important in the ultimate effect, is to find the causes of crime, and, naturally, remedies in so far as correction can be applied. It will require not only very high intelligence to discover the factors in the background which make for crime, but courage to point out and discuss the real causes.

The causes of crime strike deep into the roots of society. They touch social order and economics. They touch governmental policies in multiplying unnecessary, arbitrary and tyrannical laws, which foreshadow a disrespect for law and lawlessness.

While the commission, with its allied state and community organizations, is seeking the causes of crime, it can do much to restrain crime by practical reform of the administration of justice. It is needless to rehash the obstacles in judicial procedure, the complicated legislative rules which obstruct and sometimes block justice. It is needless to recount the political influences that contribute powerfully to the protection of criminals. We need not only simplification of rules, but the election of honest and capable men to enforce the laws, as well as honest and capable men to make the laws.

These reforms cannot be brought about merely by changing the rules and practices of courts, by obtaining sounder legislation than we have now, but there must be a great body of informed public opinion in support of the movement; the co-operation of citizens is imperative.

It is gratifying to note, however, that the National Crime Commission has no illusions with regard to finding a panacea, and no intention of shouldering the responsibility for the work of preventing crime on the Federal Government. In relying upon arousing the interest and conviction of individual citizens and through them obtaining action by legislatures and courts, the commission is taking the only effective path. Hysterics, campaigns for more laws and more drastic laws, and Federal intervention are all futile, but it must have, in order to function properly, the support of the public, both in sympathy and financial aid. Other cities support their Humane Societies in a manner that should make St. Louisans blush.

I believe it is only because we need to be aroused to the crying needs here. Can't you do something to bring this about?

How about the Community Fund? Why have they eliminated the Humane Society from their list? The latter organization is such a fine thing that it is hard to understand their discrimination against our dumb friends, who must look to us for protection and take whatever we give them, good or bad; and whenever it is they love us.

Property Owners' Grievances.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AFTER reading letters of taxpayers and home owners in regards to excessive tax burdens, I believe what we need in our city is an organization of property owners for the protection of our homes as well as other investments.

Taxes increase every year, salaries of all mechanics rise; many laws, good and bad, are passed. Owners of homes and property have no voice in the matter. Tenants get ugly, demand big improvements in their homes, hold good jobs, enjoy the luxuries of life, while home owners play the goat for the rest of the bunch, getting insulted by bad tenants.

We need an organization in St. Louis to get rid of the rent dodger, the bold tenant, excessive taxes and bad laws.

ST. LOUIS TO THE FRONT.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In your April 27 issue appears a letter signed "Safety First, Left and Always," which calls attention to what is probably the most frequently broken law in the traffic code of St. Louis.

There is a way of driving your car in making a left turn which will leave little doubt as to your intention in the minds of drivers following you, and no new invention is needed to take the place of common-sense driving. This method is simply the one provided by the traffic law of our city.

On page 5 of the "Abstract of St. Louis Traffic Laws," prepared by the City Register, and freely given out at any police station, you will find provision that a driver wishing to make a left-hand turn shall "approach the intersecting street so that the left side of his vehicle shall be as near as practicable to the center line of the street along which he is proceeding." This section also describes the legal hand signal for this turn (hand extended below horizontal), but sensibly provides that the use of a proper "stop" light makes the hand signal unnecessary.

MR. GLASSIE'S ETHICS.

We are finally getting an official report of Mr. H. Glassie's department as a member of the Tariff Commission in the matter of the duty on sugar.

The question was, should that duty be lowered? It was felt by other members of the commission that Mr. Glassie, because of his family's financial interest in the sugar business, was disqualified from acting as a judge in this case. No such scruple heckled Mr. Glassie. He was all for sitting in on the decision. Further, Mr. Coolidge, after veering around a bit, concluded that Mr. Glassie would do his duty as he saw it, and assured him that, whatever he did, the President would stand by him.

This is the story related to the Senate investigating committee by Commissioner Costigan. In the end, to be sure, Mr. Glassie did not participate in the commission's judgment, which recommended that the duty be lowered. But it was no sense of propriety that thus persuaded Mr. Glassie. It was a rough stipulation from Congress, in the shape of an amendment to an appropriation bill, that none of the funds thus provided should be used to pay the salary of any Tariff Commissioner who took part in a case in which he or his family had a financial interest.

That was enough for Mr. Glassie. He is no Don Quixote. He wanted to serve the family fortune, but not to the extent of sacrificing his official salary.

It is an unpleasant episode. There was a time, of course, when such conduct would mean dismissal, or at least a reprimand. But oil, booze, the Ohio Gang and other exploiters have so raised our standard of scandals in public life that Glassie's ethical dereliction is insipid to our jaded palate.

BEECHER, THE SCOFFLAW.

For the enlightenment of the Bishops and other clergymen who have flocked to Washington to insist upon the continuance of the policy of prohibition, we beg to quote the following from a sermon of Henry Ward Beecher, delivered in 1882:

To attempt to create morality by law is of all things supremely and superciliously foolish. * * * If we could create moral feeling by law we could get now and then a whole Legislature which would have all men converted in a year. * * * Next comes the question of the right of the law to determine whether a man shall or shall not drink. On that subject I am in favor of a man's not drinking, unless you tell him that he shall not drink.

John Calvin, whose name is held up to such reproach, would, if he were alive today, be an advanced man in the community; he was a natural reformer; and in lecturing to the students on the subject of the Sabbath, and telling them of its blessings and good influences, said to them: "Keep the Lord's day, unless men in authority command you to keep it; then break it as an ordinance of your liberty."

These reforms cannot be brought about merely by changing the rules and practices of courts, by obtaining sounder legislation than we have now, but there must be a great body of informed public opinion in support of the movement; the co-operation of citizens is imperative.

It is gratifying to note, however, that the National Crime Commission has no illusions with regard to finding a panacea, and no intention of shouldering the responsibility for the work of preventing crime on the Federal Government. A GRANDIOSE IDEA.

An unnamed group of bankers is reported to be working out a plan by which German reparations and all international war debts will be wiped out in one grand cleanup. The money would be obtained by mortgaging German railroads and industries and selling bonds to private individuals. With all respect for the genius of modern financiers, this is easily the most grandiose idea yet developed in 1926.

CLEVER SLEUTHS.

When police entered the home of Mrs. Mary Blank in Los Angeles the other day she was not in. However, her boy, Jimmy, was playing on the porch. "Has mamma got any booze?" one of the shrewd representatives of the law asked the boy. "Yes, sir," Jimmy promptly answered, and proceeded to show the police where to dig. "Isn't mamma got any more?" queried the police. Jimmy answered in the affirmative, and helped bring out more jugs from under the porch. "Did you spank Jimmy for telling about the liquor?" asked Municipal Judge Turney, after imposing a $100 fine on him. "No," she replied. "In a way I was sort o' proud of him."

This sounds like the story of little George Washington and his hatchet, except that Washington's family did not have to hide its liquor. But we wonder if the police of Washington's day had the Hawkshaw minds of the ingenious Los Angeles police

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

JUST before Henrik Ibsen bade farewell to creative labor with his mystical epilogue, "When We Dead Awaken," the savage old image-breaker seized his truncheon and dashed it full in the visage of the great modern icon—the industrial magnate, the commercial empire-builder.

This gesture was "John Gabriel Borkman," a forthright human drama overshadowed by the Norwegian's famous symbolism. It was presented last night at the Shubert, probably for the first time in St. Louis, and will be repeated Friday night and Saturday afternoon. Kindled by Miss Eva Le Gallienne's company, its acrid emotions reeked across the orchestra pit like a smudge, stinging the eyeballs and constricting the throat.

The Sick Wolf Paces His Cage.
Almost from the rise of the curtain two aged women, twin sisters, are pitted in mortal combat for the soul of a man. Their hatred flares from face to face like a visible stream of fire. Years ago Gunhild and Ella Renthem battled for the love of John Gabriel Borkman, and Gunhild triumphed. Now they rejoin hostilities—the iron, impulsive mother and the desperate spinster aunt—for possession of John Gabriel's son, Ert.

In diapason to the strife, there sound from a gallery above the footfalls of John Gabriel Borkman, banker, father and convert, as he paces his cage, day and night, howling like a sick wolf. In the end act we see him limping, endlessly about his prison, rounding the table, skirting the wall, back and forth, to and fro—the famished, unresting beast of prey. This portentous creature has the brow of a seer; but the ferocity of a wolf glares from his eye, and through his shaggy beard snarls a wolf's crimson, ravenous muzzle.

A Convicted Embezzler.

The mainspring of his being is a thirst for power. In youth he killed Ella Renthem, the woman he loved, and married her sister Gunhild to gain a position as director in a bank. The man with this post at his disposal also loved Ella, and Borkman removed himself as a rival. Year by year he manipulated titanic combinations—mines, factories, banks, shipping lines. For the decisive battle he snatched at the resources intrusted to him by his twin sisters—over him we have both loved."

"We two shadows—over the dead man."

Mr. Brecher's Borkman.
The laurels of this remarkable performance go first of all to the macabre Borkman of Mr. Egon Brecher. The Flemish artist accomplished the rare feat of making one forget entirely that he was acting; we seemed to be looking without intervening obstacle at a manifestation of pure life. Something of the same realism was in Miss Terry's Gunhild. Borkman, a son of the lesser characters distinguished themselves with persuasiveness and picturesque impersonations.

Miss Le Gallienne, with a self-abnegation unusual on the stage, was content to disguise her youth and beauty behind the cadaverous, phosphorescent mask of a dying old woman, hideously costumed. From her lips chimed no more the silvery banter of Hilda Wangel, but the weary, heartick accents of a broken soul. It would be easy to pick numerous flaws in the production. But on the whole it was the finest experience we have had in the playhouse since "Electra" last summer at the Garden Theater.

The Unpardonable Sin.
Towering self-confidence, a pride as satanic as that of Milton's Lucifer—these exalt his character to a monstrous grandeur. Even now, as he founders in the abyss, he is upheld by a demoniac hallucination. Some day, he believes, the statesmen and magnates of his country will come to him, beg his forgiveness, and implore the aid of his genius. Then—then will he make his own terms!

Nothing lends his assurance for long. His son—the selfish and worthless offspring of a loveless marriage—forsakes him, and also his mother and aunt, to elope with a wealthy, salacious woman. Borkman, a humble admirer, the frustrated poet, Vilhelm Foldal, confesses that his friend is afflicted with delusions. His own wife tells him that he is dead already; with appalling cruelty she bids him lie quiet where he lies.

And Ella Renthem, learning at last that she had been the subject of an infamous barker, denounces him as a criminal. "The Bible," she says, "speaks of a mysterious force for which there is no explanation. I have never understood what it could be; but now I understand. The great, unpardonable sin is to murder the love-life of a human soul. You have done that."

Two Shadows and the Dead.

Borkman simply replies that his great unpardonable sin has been that of skulking for eight years in waiting; now he will go forth and build his empire anew. Forth he shambles into the frigid night, the midst of an apostrophe to steamships and factories of his home, something rips at his heart, and—and it kills him. Over his body the sisters are reconciled in death by spouting cynics who shudder before all adventures in faith.

SIDE BY SIDE.

From the Baltimore Sun.
T he Christian Science Monitor has printed on its first page a picture showing the flags of the United States and Canada flying side by side on the summit of White Pass, marking the boundary between Alaska and Yukon territory. Not a soldier was to be seen, not a gun. The picture was the perfect presentation of a monumental piece of evidence in favor of the theory that nations which dare to live in peace may live in peace—evidence which is consistently ignored by sputtering cynics who shudder before all adventures in faith.

Comments on Reports of Dry

Williamson County.

By the Associated Press
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 26.—The Illinois National Guard troops may not be used to conduct liquor raids in Williamson County, attorney of the office of the Adjutant-General said today.

This statement was made in answer to reports that Illinois troops are being used in Marion and Morris for the purpose of raiding roadhouses and other places suspected of violating the Prohibition laws. Assistant Adjutant-General Shand said that Illinois may take no active part in raids, but that if trouble were anticipated they could be ordered to do so to maintain law and order.

By the Associated Press
MARION, Ill., April 28.—State's Attorney Boswell of Williamson county, Tuesday and yesterday led a series of liquor raids throughout the county which resulted in two vanloads of liquor being confiscated.

The raids were started by Boswell early this week with the cooperation of Sheriff Galligan. Yesterday, however, Boswell operated without the assistance of Galligan.

Boswell led a raid on the P. N. Lewis farm, east of Marion, and two truckloads of liquor, in their original cases, in addition to a number of kegs and barrels of liquor, were confiscated. In this raid Boswell was accompanied by Capt. William J. Butler, commanding Company C, 130th Infantry, Illinois National Guard, and four men.

Chairman of Association.

Thomas H. Carrow of Philadelphia was installed as chairman of the Safety Section of the American Association of Railroads at the final session of the sixth annual conference of the section this morning at Hotel Statler. Other officers elected yesterday are: First vice president, L. F. Shead, safety superintendent of the Rock Island Line; second vice president, D. G. Phillips of St. Louis; safety superintendent of the Wabash Railroad.

At the morning session yesterday, train service, accidents and accident-prevention at railway crossings were discussed; at the afternoon session, safety and the employee. Three hundred attended the conference.

Robber Band Leader Removed.
By the Associated Press
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 29.—Richard Reese Whittemore, robber band leader, left Buffalo for New York today in the custody of New York city detectives. District Attorney Moore has consistently refused to state what action would be taken in the case, since the jury trying Whittemore here for murder disagreed last Tuesday night. The removal of the prisoner to New York was taken as an indication that the state did not believe he could be convicted here. Whittemore was tried here on an indictment charging him with killing one of two bank guards who were slain defending a $17,000 shipment of currency here last October.

Union's policy of settling cases by stipulation.

He then spoke of complaints having been given out in the press. "It sometimes happens that the respondent knew nothing of the matter whatever until it saw itself advertised as a crook by the headlines in the public press," he said. "Do not forget that our rules in regard to publicity and to stipulation do not apply in cases where the business itself is inherently fraudulent. The commission will give the widest publicity in its dealings with crooks."

"It will not stop to discuss whether giving publicity—parading on front pages—ever serves any purpose. The detail of fraud and vice and crime tends to lessen the evil or benefit the public. Certainly many of the best minds do not believe it. But while we are terrorizing the 10 men in business that are dishonest, are we not at the same time terrorizing the 90 men that are honestly trying to obey the law?"

"It is absolutely dishonest to claim that there is a clear and distinct line between what is and what is not lawful under the anti-trust acts. It is therefore absolutely dishonest to say that when they are violated, it is always done purposely. The chief objection to settling cases by stipulation lies in the fact that it tends to lessen the publicity that the disreputable and the fanatic wish to use in their propaganda of Socialism and discontent."

BUDGET OF $26,819,475 FOR 1926-27 PASSED BY ALDERMEN

Tax Rate of $2.58 Also Approved and Wages of Some Minor City Employees Increased.

The Board of Aldermen today suspended its rules and passed without discussion the annual city appropriation bill for the 1926-27 budget of $26,819,475, together with the tax rate bill carrying a total rate of $2.58 on the $100 valuation and the standardization bill increasing wages of some minor city employees about $1200 a month.

It was announced that city employees, who have received no pay since April 1, will be paid for the first half of April beginning at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The appropriation bill as approved included a $12,000 item for the maintenance of the Psychiatric Clinic, which was reinstated by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today. The Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Aldermen had decided to discontinue it yesterday after strenuous protest at a public hearing.

Spent to the Post-Dispatch.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 29.—"Big Tim" Murphy, Chicago labor leader, late yesterday appeared before the Department of Justice agents who are investigating the Federal prison here. "Big Tim" was released from the prison recently after serving a sentence for alleged complicity in the Dearborn Street station mail robbery at Chicago. He said at the time of his discharge he had plenty to tell as to the conduct of the prison.

The leader of the "Gas House gang" did not go to the prison to tell his story, but went in a motor car from Kansas City to a side door of a hotel and into the rooms occupied by the Federal agents. He dined with them later in the hotel dining room. He would not discuss with newspaper men the things he had told the agents.

It became known yesterday that approximately 20 convicts in the prison had been transferred to Atlanta since the investigation started and after obtaining their stories agents had checked them all over the United States. The agents decline to give the result of their checkings.

Discrimination Charged.

One of the charges said to be under investigation is alleged discrimination in favor of certain Kansas City and Leavenworth attorneys in prison practice. There are approximately 20 lawyers in the Leavenworth County Bar Association, but it is said that prison practice is restricted to virtually two of them, Lee Bond and T. W. Bell, a Negro.

Agents are said to have investigated charges of alleged discrimination in favor of certain inmates of the prison. It was that alleged discrimination which may have caused Murphy to talk and it was that which "Nicky" Arnstein, recently released, most resented.

David Pinkusohn, known as the "gas house" bartender, who is said to have worn tailor-made clothing and to have received special food, was transferred to Atlanta after agents had questioned him. Pinkusohn, prior to his transfer, was chauffeur for a prison official. On the day of his transfer, Pinkusohn is said to have withdrawn $10,000 from a local bank.

Says Convict Had a Secret.

Another case said to have been reported to the agents is that of Herbert H. Bigelow, St. Paul millionaire, member of the firm of Brown & Bigelow, who was paroled last month after being accused of falsifying an income tax return. Bigelow was permitted an unlimited number of visitors and some of these visitors and occasionally the prisoner himself, dined in the residence of a prison official, it is charged. Most prisoners, it is said, are restricted in the number of letters they may send or receive each week. Bigelow, according to the charges, was permitted to have a typewriter in his cell and employed a fellow convict as his private secretary. This prisoner, a man named Price, is reported to have exhibited a check for $300, saying it was for a month's salary as Bigelow's secretary.

Then there is the case of a Father Grace, Denver priest, sentenced on a liquor charge. An affidavit charging Father Grace was permitted special privileges was made last December by M. W. Wade, former parole officer of the prison, and was published in the Leavenworth newspaper.

Neither T. C. Wilcox, Frank Blake nor S. Hardy, agents in charge of the investigation, last night would discuss its progress nor would they indicate when it will be completed.

NEGRO ADMITS PART IN $1000 CLOTHING STORE HOLDUP

Police Say William Sherrod Implicated Son of Proprietor in His Confession.

William Sherrod, 19 years old, a Negro of 3941 Fairfax avenue, was brought here yesterday from Memphis, Tenn., where he was arrested for alleged participation in the holding of the National Credit Clothing Co., 4421 Easton avenue, April 5, in which about $1000 was taken.

The Police Department announced he made a confession admitting he made his share in the robbery and implicating Isaac Klearman, a son of Nathan Klearman, proprietor of the clothing store. Klearman has been held on warrant charging him with instigating the robbery. The third man in the plot, Kenneth Dean, a Negro, was arrested the day of the holdup, and it was on his statement that Klearman's participation became known to the police. Sherrod corroborated Dean's accusation against Klearman.

The two Negroes say that Isaac Klearman described himself to them as "a black sheep son of Nathan Klearman." In his reported confession, Sherrod declared that Klearman told them the clothing company always kept a large sum of money on hand and that it would be easy to get it. Accordingly, Sherrod and Dean held up Nathan Klearman and another son, Nathan Jr. in the store that morning, while Isaac Klearman waited in Sherrod's room for a "split," the Negroes say. Sherrod told detectives that he became frightened when he learned that Dean had been caught and fled to Memphis without splitting with Isaac Klearman.

Heads Guillot But Accuses Man Higher Up.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 29.—Fred A. Day, former cashier of the Methodist Book Concern store here, was taken to Jefferson City yesterday to begin serving a two-year term in the penitentiary for embezzlement. Day was charged with diverting approximately $32,000 of the book concern's funds to his own use. He was allowed to remain in the city to speculate in the Cincinnati branch due to the New York branch's withdrawal by Day in 1923, which he had withheld from other company.

FIRE DESTROYS ONLY RECORD OF FAMOUS ROYAL TRAGEDY

Secret Story of Killing of Archduke Rudolph of Austria Lost to the World.

PRAGUE, April 29.—The only official document dealing with the Meyerling tragedy in which Archduke Rudolf, the Emperor Franz Josef's son and heir to the Austrian throne, and Marie Vetsera met their deaths under circumstances never yet explained, was destroyed in a fire which consumed the mansion of Count Taaffe at Ellschau.

The document, which is understood to contain the only authentic account of the deaths, was given to Count Taaffe's father, then Prime Minister, by the Emperor. Neither he nor his son would ever consent to its publication, but kept it carefully locked up in a safe in the library at Ellschau.

YUMA, Ariz., April 29.—James Townsend, a motion picture production manager, was seriously injured in a wind and electrical storm which last night demolished a movie camp 18 miles west of here.

EIGHTY MILES PER HOUR

CHRYSLER IMPERIAL "80"

WITHOUT LUBRICATION — AND — NO SQUEAKS

WHAT luxury to ride in a car that cannot develop chassis squeaks! What luxury never even to need to think about chassis lubrication! Chrysler Imperial "80" affords that kind of luxury, too. Chassis lubrication means, chiefly, oiling or greasing spring shackle bolts—and doing it frequently, whether by hand or foot. Chrysler Imperial "80" has no spring shackle bolts, but instead live rubber shock insulators which never need oil or grease, or even a thought. They never develop a squeak or a rattle. They wear indefinitely. They relieve your mind of any thought of lubrication. They relieve your ears of noise. And they make the Imperial "80" ride with a soft easiness you have never before experienced in a motor car.

in the modern kitchen,

THE housewife today thinks of her kitchen as her workshop, her office. She installs efficient new methods that mean less work for her, and that result in a sanitary, spotless kitchen. She insists upon having a bottle of CLOROX on the kitchen shelf.

Moreover, she uses CLOROX in dozens of different ways following the directions given on the label of each bottle. She likes CLOROX because it bleaches, making white clothes whiter in laundering them. She depends upon CLOROX to remove ink, fruit, coffee, and other stains from white cotton, linen or mercerized goods. This bottled magic bleaches drain boards, removes stains from sinks and disinfects the drainpipes.

Crystal ware, milk bottles, enameled cooking utensils and the enameled or porcelain linings of refrigerators are all made spotless and sanitary by using a few drops of CLOROX in the water in which they are washed.

Let CLOROX be the guardian of kitchen spotlessness in your home. You will find it economical and efficient.

ASYLUM INSTALLS BEAUTY SHOP TO TREAT THE INSANE

Some Expected to Be of Psychological Value at Alton greatest strength-giver and of good healthy flesh in the Cod Liver Oil—it's full of the nasty stuff—ill-smelling hard to take, and usually upsets stomach.

A beauty parlor as a psychological aid to mentally deranged inmates will be established in the Alton State Hospital, Dr. C. E. Trovillion, managing officer, has announced.

The shop is to be completely outfitted in professional style, equipped to give permanent waves, massages, mud treatments, haircuts, mannequins and all other beauty devices. Mental patients will have exclusive use of its facilities.

"Consider how you feel yourself when you get fixed up," Dr. Trovillion said, "and then remember that the effect will be similar on the unfortunate whose minds have become affected. It is influence such patients to take an interest in themselves and that is a good sign. The first step toward recovery of a mental case is an awakened interest of the patient in himself and in what is going on about him."

"But be sure and get McCoo's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's chief enemy, discovered a new formula with A.V. and the safe, harmless remedy now prescribed by over 20,000 physicians, dentists and nurses.

Dr. Edwards' Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown stools"—bad breath—a dull, tired listless feeling, and a general state of constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from on or two of Dr. Edwards' Tablets.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15¢ and 50¢.

Throbbing
Relieve that nerve-racking, throbbing headache by just a few minutes with A.V. and the safe, harmless remedy now prescribed by over 20,000 physicians, dentists and nurses.

FAMOUS HOTELS TO BE RAZED
Young's and Crawford House, Boston—to Give Way to Business.

WICKERSHAM SAYS PEOPLE MUST GUARD OWN RIGHTS
Former Attorney-General lays on Them the Burden of Maintaining Justice.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 29.—Young's hotel, famous old Boston hostelry, is doomed. The site on which the building stands has been sold and the hotel, for nearly a century the favorite gathering place of financiers and politicians, will be demolished to make way for a huge modern structure. Recently the historic Parker House went the way of the old, and last week it was announced that the Crawford House, another ancient landmark of the city, was to be handed over to wreckers.

Young's Hotel was the successor of Taft's Coffee House, noted for its food and the luncheon mecca of Boston's business and professional men. In 1845 George Young took over the coffee house and turned it into a hotel. Since that time "Young's" had been one of the widely known hotels of the country for its table. From his suite on the upper floor of Young's Hotel, Thomas W. Lawson directed his financial campaigns and there his book "Frenzied Finance" was written. The property was owned by The Fifty Associates, operating under a charter dated 1826, and leased by the J. R. Whipple Corporation. The land and buildings, assessed at $1,650,000, have been purchased by a syndicate of Boston business men. The deal involved more than $6,000,000, it was announced.

Preservation of the "Invaluable Antiquities," including "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," the former Attorney-General continued, can be maintained "only so long as our people continue to love liberty, to respect the rights of each other and to realize that upon themselves, and not only upon their neighbors, rests the duty of that vigilant watchfulness of the public interest without which liberty must perish."

CHARLES WILLIAMS WAS ARRESTED
When He Displayed Emblem
and Sought Loan.

Charles Williams, a transient, was sentenced to 30 days in the Workhouse and fined $25 by Judge Miller of the Court of Criminal Correction for wearing a Masonic pin without authorization. A State law prohibits the wearing of fraternal insignia by persons not specifically authorized to do so.

Williams was arrested April 16 when he displayed a Masonic pin and attempted to obtain a loan from Harold Felsenheimer, a private watchman in the Tower Building, Sixth and Olive streets.

BROTHER OF LIFE-TERMER
GETS 2 YEARS IN PRISON

Paul Slivey, 19-year-old brother of a life-term convict, was found guilty of larceny of an automobile in a sealed verdict opened by Circuit Judge Mix today in which the jury fixed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary. He was tried yesterday for the theft of the automobile of Elmer H. Grimm of 6639 University drive, on Jan. 9 last.

His brother, Edgar, was convicted of the murder of Police Sgt. Robert E. Woody, who was shot to death on Nov. 8, 1924.

Police Close Louisville Show.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29.—Police gave the only show at the Gayety Theater here last night when they closed it because the burlesque production "French Models" included parts that the Board of Public Safety decided were not suitable for public presentation. Manager Abe Finberg made no statement but it was said would be given an opportunity to present his case before the board today.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals picked Sylvester Johnson to face the Cubs in the series opener here this afternoon. He was opposed by Charlie Root, at one time with the Browns.

Jim Bottomley played first base with a swollen ankle. Hugh Critz stepped on the leg in the final at Cincinnati yesterday.

It was one of the best days of the trip and a crowd of 4500 turned out.

The game:

FIRST INNING.
CARDINALS—Blades struck out. Mueller singled to left and stole second. Hornsby hit to Freigau and Mueller was run down. Freigau, unable to reach Freigau, Hornsby reached second. Root threw out Bottomley.

CHICAGO—Adams fouled to Bottomley. Heathcote pulled to Hornsby. Manson hit into the right-center bleachers for a home run. Wilson walked. Freigau singled to left. Grimm walked, filling the bases. Cooney fled to Mueller. ONE RUN.

SECOND INNING.
CARDINALS—Haley was called out on strikes. Bell fled to Heathcote. O'Farrell walked and stole second, aided by a short passed ball. They now doubled to right, scoring O'Farrell. Johnson out. Grimm unassisted. ONE RUN.

BUNNY FABRIQUE SIGNS TO MANAGE VICKSBURG
By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 29.—Fabrique, 1925 second baseman of the Springfield Senators, today signed to manage the Vicksburg (Miss.) club in the Cotton States League and left today for his new post.

Fabrique will take with him outfielder Lloyd, released Wednesday by the local Three-I club. Fabrique came to Springfield from Kansas City and has had big league experience, having played with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

WESTERN EASILY BEATS COUNTRY DAY, 12 TO 2
Western Military Academy yesterday defeated Day School on the latter's diamond, 12 to 2, in a Preparatory League contest. The Cadets scored six runs in the first inning and were never in danger.

The visitors also were victorious in a meeting of the two handball teams.

Track Meet Tomorrow.
McGraw High School and Day will compete in a local track meet on the Country Day campus tomorrow afternoon. Both are members of the Preparatory League.

NORMANDY BALL SQUAD
DEFEATS FERGUSON, 13-1

Normandy High swamped Ferguson in a County League contest, 13 to 1. Ferguson was one-sided from the first inning when Normandy counted five runs.

Dammerman pitched tight ball for Normandy. In the ninth with the bases full and none out, he retired the side on strikes.

One official described the project of an amateur champion appearing before professional auspices as "dismal." Another pointed out the improbability of a man's being granted in this case when it was refused for exhibitions last winter for the benefit of French charities.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Promoter Jim Muller said today he had offered a $50,000 purse for a bantam-weight championship match between Bob Taylor, Texan, and the challenger, to be staged here June 13 as the first important contest under the new boxing law.

The bout would be to a referee decision. Muller said Taylor is anxious for a chance to win the championship that he has agreed to accept $10,000, giving $40,000 to the title holder.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM OF WRESTLING BOUTS
AT THE COLISEUM

MAIN EVENT.
Joe Stecher, world's heavyweight champion, vs. John Ziegmand, Ravenna, Neb. Weight: Stecher, 212; Pelek, 190. The bout of three falls for the world's championship. Referee: Harry S. Sharpe.

SEMI-FINAL EVENT.
Jimmy Castano, St. Louis, vs. Andrew, one fall. Referee: John G. Myers.

SECOND EVENT.
Dick Daviscourt, Kansas, vs. Roy Steele of Seattle, heavyweight, one fall. Referee: Harry Codd.

OPENING EVENT.
Joe Ziegmand, Ravenna, Neb., vs. Jim Browning, heavyweights, one fall. Referee: George Tragis.

Starting time of first bout: 8:30 p.m.
Probable starting time of main event: 10:30 p.m.

By DENT MCKIMMING.

The bout to which all wrestling fans have looked forward, more or less eagerly for the past year or two, is scheduled to take place at the New Coliseum this evening between Champion Joe Stecher faces his Nebraska neighbor, John Pelek, in the feature bout of a program containing three other events.

In spite of the fact that there exists a widespread conviction that professional wrestling bouts are not always decided strictly on the merits of the contestants, it is still very interesting to weigh the capabilities of the principals in tonight's title match. Speculation on the outcome is based entirely on what the men can do rather than on what they are LIKELY to do.

Pelek Is Clever
Except for the fact that he lacks physical bulk, John Pelek is the equal of any wrestler that has ever shown here. No lightweight is faster than the man from Ravenna. His actions in darting in and out around his opponent may be likened to the maneuvers of a clever hard-hitting boxer. He has a great knowledge of where holds, or at least can apply more holds, than the man, rather than in standing position.

One of the most important facts being considered by those who would attempt to predict the outcome is that Pelek is conceding the champion 22 pounds. The fellow will weigh not more than 190 pounds, whereas Stecher weighs 212 pounds, without any effort on his part to reduce.

Stecher, the plodding, deliberate worker, usually spends three-quarters of the time consumed in a match in extricating himself from the holds applied by his opponent. His scheme of battle is to trust to his ability to break his opponent's holds, thus discouraging and at the same time reducing the physical resistance of his foe. His most effective weapon is his long legs, in the body closers in which he twines his adversary and applies pressure.

Both Men Experienced.

Each knows the style and capabilities of his foe, each has had 15 years of experience in competition and has engaged in bouts which lasted four hours and there is no reason to believe that either will take unnecessary chances in exposing himself to attack. The long acts of such performers as Gordini, while very interesting, are not at all effective, since they leave the actor open to attack. Stecher defeated Gordini six years ago, winning two of the three.

The poor fellow in the next stateroom is anything but a good sailor, and this afternoon when he came out for the first time, he looked dreadfully weak and pale.

Harold struck up an acquaintance with him, and asked him if he wouldn't have a cigar.

"I sure crave one," he replied, "but I just haven't the nerve even to light one."

"Muriel can't hurt you," Harold assured him. "Muriel agrees with everybody. Not too strong nor too tame, but a perfect blend of choice Havana and the best of the lighter tobaccos."

And after the first few puffs, he started to tell us about the big sirloin steak he was going to punish at dinner.

The bout to which all wrestling fans have looked forward, more or less eagerly for the past year or so, is scheduled to take place at the New Coliseum this evening when Champion Joe Stecher faces his Nebraska neighbor, John Pesek, in the feature bout of a program containing three other events.

In spite of the fact that there exists a widespread conviction that professional wrestling bouts are not always decided strictly on the merits of the contestants, it is still very interesting to weigh the capabilities of the principals in tonight's title match. Speculation on the outcome is based entirely on what the men can do rather than on what they are LIKELY to do.

Pesek Is Clever

Except for the fact that he lacks physical bulk, John Pesek is the equal of any wrestler that has ever come here. No lightweight is faster than the man from Ravenna, actions in darting in, out and around his opponent may be like those of the maneuvers of a clever, hard-hitting boxer. He has a great knowledge of wrestling holds, or at least can apply more holds, than Stecher. He prefers to work on the mat, rather than in standing position.

One of the most important facts considered by those who attempt to predict the outcome of the Pesek vs. Stecher bout is the weight of the men. Pesek is considerably heavier than Stecher, weighing 22 pounds more.

Just what will happen to an part of baseball under the rules, American League pitcher who do not consider that permission to use resin bag is a problem. From the American magnates who met here yesterday and decided to comply with the rules, it is learned that the league has finished with its ability to bring his opponents' holds, thus discouraging and at the same time reducing the physical resistance of his foes. His most potent weapon, as every baseball fan knows, is the body in which he twines his strong legs about the torso of his adversary and applies pressure.

Both Men Experienced.

Each knows the style and capabilities of his foe, each has had 15 years experience in competition, and has emerged in both which four hours ago there is no reason to believe that either will take unnecessary chances in exposing himself to attack. The acts of such performers as Gordini, while very enterprising, are not at all effective, they leave the actor open to attack. Stecher defeated Pesek in their only previous meeting six years ago, winning two out of three.

Two years ago the possibility of meeting between Stecher and Pesek was considered very remote for the reason that they were the representatives of rival cliques. A year ago, however, Pesek was found that he had broken his leg, his manager, Max Baum, admits, however, that he signed a contract with him still two years to run. He declares that he is "through" with Baum and the Sandow-Lewis combination. He is managing his own affairs now, being advised by his own, Joe Due of Ravenna.

Heavy Advance Sale.

Advance sales of tickets point to record breaking crowd tonight, least in the matter of money taken at the door. It is probable that nearly 10,000 persons will be in the bout and the gate receipts probably will approximate $40,000. Stecher is said to have been guaranteed $20,000.

Harry S. Sharpe, who referred Stecher-Zbyszko title bout here year ago, will referee tonight's championship match.

BIG CENTURY CELEBRATION OF THE PIGGY WIGGLY STORE

DURING THIS GREAT CENTURY CELEBRATION
FOODS WILL BE SOLD FOR LESS THAN WHOLESALE VALUE

The first PIGGY WIGGLY Store opened on August 28, 1919. It marked an epoch in the food business in St. Louis. It marked the beginning of low prices for St. Louis housewives on highest quality groceries, fresh fruits and vegetables. Prior to the advent of PIGGY WIGGLY Stores it was a recognized custom for cash stores to make a few cheap prices on cheap goods. Merchandise of quality it was thought should be confined largely to credit stores and should bring long prices. It had to bring long prices in the expensively conducted credit stores.

College Inn Chicken a la King

less than ordinary meals

Have This Famous Dinner at Home

For an enticing change from the ordinary dinners, do this tonight. Have Chicken a la King—as served at the famous College Inn. It is an economy—costs but a few cents. And it takes but a few minutes to prepare.

Hotel Cooked

This rarely delicious dish is prepared for you by College Inn chefs. Only the tenderest meats of selected fowls are used. Fresh, cultivated mushrooms. Piñon from Spain. Pure, rich cream. Rare spices. An adventure in deliciousness, you'll agree.

For a Few Cents

At hotel or restaurant you'd pay $2.50 for three portions. Even if you could prepare it at home, the cost would be triple what it is this way.

Sold at Piggly Wiggly Stores for 2 Cans 95c

And Try These Appetizing Dainties, Too!

Welsh Rarebit

A piquant blending of old Cheddar Cheese and new cream cheese, whipped to a smooth, even consistency and delicate seasonings.

Served piping hot on crackers, on crisp toast, its distinctive tang pleases delicate taste buds.

It makes tempting sandwiches and many serves it with sardines.

Cream of Tomato

The particular pride of College Inn chefs! Golden chicken stock, enriched with rare country ham, rendered with a smooth puree of sun-ripened tomatoes and flavoring with imported spices. Sounds delicious? It tastes even better.

It's mighty good! Rich, Heavy, Dark—you know it must be Certified to satisfy by Looie, Lena and all the wise bakers. Try it!

Vegetable Soup

Eighteen varieties of fresh garden vegetables go into this delicious soup. And nourishing beef stock, delicately blended with a smooth puree of sun-ripened tomatoes and flavoring with imported spices. Sounds delicious? It tastes even better.

It's mighty good! Rich, Heavy, Dark—you know it must be

Chop Suey

Who doesn't like Chop Suey, when it's cooked and served the way the College Inn cooks it? It's a choice, hot, cuts, crisp, creamy, mushrooms, bean sprouts, imported bamboo shoots, all known for their delicious flavor. Serve it with rice and tea for a satisfying meal.

It's mighty good! Rich, Heavy, Dark—you know it must be

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS RAKE BILL FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS
Robinson Denounces It as Political Weapon. Mayfield Charges Discrimination.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 29.—Democratic criticism was directed in the Senate yesterday against the $165,000,000 public buildings bill which was defended by Senator Lenroot (Rep.) of Wisconsin. The measure, as passed by the House, was assailed by Senator Robinson.

Democratic leader, as a powerful political weapon, and by Senator Mayfield (Dem.) of Texas as discriminating against 42 states, mostly in the South and West. Under the proposal, $16,000,000 would be expended for the construction of Government buildings authorized in 1913, but not yet built; $50,000,000 for structures in the District of Columbia, and $100,000,000 for postoffices and other buildings in localities chosen by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster-General.

"Temporary buildings which have been in use for years are nearly falling down," Senator Smoot (Rep.) of Utah declared in advocating passage of the measure. He said the expenditure of the $165,000,000 would be "good investment" on the part of the Government.

Mayfield said that $72,000,000 of the $100,000,000 for use outside of the capital would be expended in six states—New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Illinois, California and Ohio. The remaining $23,000,000 would be expended in 22 other states, he added, and 20 states, including Missouri, would receive nothing.

ADmits KILLING DRY CRUSADER

Tennessee Farmer Pleads Self-Defense; Family Also Held.

By the Associated Press
PARIS, Tenn., April 29.—District Attorney S. G. Sherrard took personal direction of the investigation into the killing of Thomas Evans, dry crusader, today. Clois Martin, 23 years old, a farmer in Northeastern Henry County, was arrested yesterday charged with the actual slaying of Evans and has admitted shooting him, according to officers, but claimed self-defense. Martin's wife, who is 18 years old, her sister, Eva Evans, 18, and Martin's father, George Martin, were also arrested charged with being accessories after the fact. Martin waived preliminary hearing and is held without bail.

CHAPTER 28.

Aug. 3.
H ALLIDAY, who is an early riser, burst in on us this morning at the breakfast table, fairly bristling with excitement.

"Good morning everybody!" he sang out. "And how about a picnic today? Ginger ale and fried chicken, I to provide the ginger ale!"

"Sit down, man, and pull yourself together," Edith said, eyeing him. "William, fetch the aromatic spirit of ammonia. He will be all right presently."

"What do I receive for a piece of very cheering?" he demanded.

"Who's to judge whether it's cheering or not?"

"Well, I leave it to all of you," he said. "Greenough's gone, Benchley came over yesterday and threw him off the case. At least, that's what they say at the post-office. Thirteen days he's been fooling around, and he couldn't get over the hump."

"If only he had stayed a little longer," Edith said regretfully, "and somebody had killed him! It's rotten bad luck, that's all."

The conversation had little or no meaning for Jane. She was, I could see, puzzled by our excitement and unable to understand our relief. "Surely they have left somebody," she said. "We ought not to be left without protection. Who knows when something will break out again, and the where are we?"

"What's the end?" said Halliday, and he and Edith two-stepped into the living room, where Edith sat down at the organ and played execrably a few bars of "Shall We Gather at the River?"

"Latest song hit," she called. "Words and music here, 25 cents."

"I think you are all a bunch of music mad," Jane said, and went out to do her morning ordering.

The move is a totally unexpected one. Yesterday, as Halliday said, the Sheriff came over to the hotel and was closeted for an hour or two with Greenough. A bell boy reports that, on carrying some cracked ice to the room, he found Greenough sitting morosely by a table, and Benchley at the window, staring out. Half an hour later the Sheriff left, passing out the bill without so much as a nod to anyone, and within the hour Greenough was carrying his bill in the lobby and ordering a car to take him to the train.

Our own relief is enormous, but there is much grumbling among the summer folk as well as the natives. Starr is the usual variety of small-town constable, and it seems extraordinary that the case should be left in his care. It is of course possible that another man is to be sent in Greenough's place, but if so we have no intimation of it.

Later: Incredible, the rapidity with which news circulated here. The immediate result of Greenough's departure has been rather to revive the interest in the situation than otherwise. I dare say as long as the police were on the case, the people more or less lay back and depended on them; now they are thrown once more onto their own resources, and a variety of opinions and even of clews are being exchanged at that central clearing house, the postoffice.

Thus far, however, the news has been rather to revive the interest in the situation than otherwise. I dare say as long as the police were on the case, the people more or less lay back and depended on them; now they are thrown once more onto their own resources, and a variety of opinions and even of clews are being exchanged at that central clearing house, the postoffice.

So unexpected was it, coming on Lear's quiet face and general dependability, and perhaps the need of a fresh mind on the conditions, impelled me to tell my story, to which he listened without interruption.

His opinion is that we have to do with a homicidal maniac, and that the sheep-killing was preliminary to the rest, "a propitiation," he puts it.

"Of course, I am no psychiatrist," he said, "but what other explanation have you?"

"None at all," I admitted. "Of course, if I meant to commit a series of crimes, I might find it useful to establish my insanity first."

He looked badly, and I asked him if he cared to sit down before starting back. But he refused.

"I'll get hell if he finds I've left the house," he said elegantly.

I turned and walked back with him toward the house, and seeing him secretly amused about something, asked him what it was, whereupon he said that he was thinking of the way I had shot out of the garage.

"Put something over on you there, didn't I?"

"You startled me. What do you mean?"

"I guess you know," he said, with his side-long glance. "That cough."

"You mean, the light-house story?"

He fell again into one of his secret convulsions of mirth.

"No, I don't mean the light-house," he said, and turning abruptly, struck off through the trees.

I can take from this as much or as little as I will. Is it possible that Gordon has heard the cough in the house, and associates it with the other sounds of which he has complained to Annie Cochran? Or has he merely been told of it, and with his perverted idea of humor, been deliberately alarming me with it?

If I am to believe my recent reading according to tradition the disconcerting frequently do after death the things they did most frequently in life; your hunting trips on horse-back, and is seen alone on country roads; ladies of ancient time who lighted themselves to bed with candles seem to go on perennially retiring to God knows what unearthly couch, with the same everlasting candle in their hands.

"But to record, in all seriousness, the possibility that they carry with them, without the flesh, the weaknesses of that flesh, is beyond my power of credulity.

The small mind, the mind which can grasp details perfectly but details only, fears broken precedents as he would a plague!

His answer to every suggestion is, "That might be all right—but we have always done it this way."

And "this way," it is sure to be done as long as he possesses the power of speech or of executive direction.

How can some people remember some things so well, and forget so completely that the method now old and tried was once new and untried?

In their worship of the men who discovered new foods, new processes, yes even new worlds, how can they fail to grasp something of their daring and imagination?

How can they appreciate and honor the mental giants of civilization, and still think and behave like the first man that ever lived—without observation or reasoning?

Judging from the way some men and women view life and conduct business, it would seem that their only fully developed mental accomplishment was memory. Their brains are so packed with the ways that other people have done things, that they have little room to work out means of their own.

Though their customs of hospitality differ from our own, the spirit which lies beneath the outward manifestations is deep and sincere. They are really anxious to share what they have with any stranger who may chance to come to their doors.

This special table is covered with the finest of white linen. The service is of silver. The mistress of the house serves himself. But once the food has been set upon the table, the hostess disappears but her guest may enjoy his food alone. She may come in once or twice during the meal to encourage him to eat more heartily, but that is all.

If the guest insists, he may be permitted after a few days to eat in the kitchen with the family. This is a privilege that is only granted in rare and exceptional cases. But once the guest is admitted to the kitchen, he is part of the family.

Remember, today's discoveries are tomorrow's precedents.

A new system of bookkeeping might break all the rules. But might it not, also, shatter much red tape and clear much obscurity?

Children are supposed to follow precedents, obediently, because they have not yet acquired the maturity and experience for individual, independent thinking and action.

But who wants to remain a child all his life—even in thoughts?

Where a Guest Must Dine Alone

T HE Norwegian peasants are a most hospitable people, but their rules of hospitality are rigid and rarely break any violation.

So all-embracing, however, is their hospitality that even a beggar must be offered food before he is permitted to leave the house.

Whoever enters the door of a Norwegian household must partake of a meal or his hosts will be offended.

But one of the strangest of the Norwegian customs, in which their hospitality rules abounding, is that of serving the guest's meal in solitary splendor.

There is nothing the slightest bit snobbish in this habit. It grows from a spirit of humbleness. They feel that their own table is not sufficiently elegant for the more exalted tastes of the honored guest.

How to make Strawberry Jam
keep the color and flavor of the fresh berries

Your jam will taste enough like fresh berries to use in strawberry shortcake if you make it this new, easy, short-boil way with Certo. Follow this recipe to use for your first batch of strawberry jam.

Cut in halves lengthwise with staining knife about 2 quarts of small or medium-sized ripe berries. After halving, weigh out 2 lbs. berries, or measure 4 1/2 level cups of berries, packing solidly into the cup until juice and fruit come to the top of the cup. Add 7 level cups (3 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in 1/2 cup Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with melted paraffin.

The short boiling time, possible only with Certo, preserves the loss of delicate flavor and the darkening in color which used to occur during the old long boil. It also gives you a larger amount of jam, since you save the large quantity of juice which used to boil away.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jelling substance of fruit refined and bottled. Your grocer has Certo. A book of simple, tested recipes comes with each bottle.

Roast six ball peaches in the oven until the skin curls and is dark, remove, wash, and peel, cut off the ends and remove seeds and cores. White skin. Stuff with minced ham, grated cheese, seasoning and crumbs, and close with a wooden toothpick. Make a batter of six eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately, then mixed, stir in a little flour and water. Dip peaches in the batter, then plunge them into deep, hot fat, lift and dip in batter again, then back into the fat to fry a delicious brown. Grind the pepper seeds with a white onion and two tomatoes, add salt and a little sugar and cook 10 minutes, then turn in the leftover batter and cook 20 minutes, stirring to make it smooth.

August 4th.

The party last night was a great success. Lear had brought me out a bottle of claret, and with canapes on the table and six wine glasses, hastily borrowed from Anne Cochran, at the main house, we took on quite a festive air. Lear looked trifle tired when I sat down at the table, but he was in high spirits. "Well, Halliday and myself drank to 'the absent one!'" But otherwise all was well.

We divided after the meal. Jane and Helena to talk, Edith and Halliday for the housework and a canape, and Lear and I to pace the drive with our cigars.

Oh! Margy!

Custards and Calories.

Any daily dessert may form a part of the nourishment of the meal if it has been carefully planned. Dishes containing eggs, cream, starches in large portion are necessarily of high caloric value. It is a useful way to eliminate these foods to those who do not care for plain milk, eggs or cereals.

Soft Custard.

The custard for four people is as follows. Blend together two cups of rich milk, four fresh eggs, four tablespoons of sugar, a half-spoonful of salt and a dash of vanilla. Cook gently in a double boiler until it coats the back of a spoon. Then remove, cool and chill. Meringue kisses may be added to the top before serving. Custard is then called floating island.

Chocolate Custard.

For two people this makes 516 ozs. Grate four teaspoonsful of sweetened chocolate. Add four teaspoonsfuls of milk and melt together. Then add a half cupful of four beaten egg yolks, four teaspoonsfuls of sugar, and a small half-spoonful of salt. Pour into four cups, set in water and bake at 350°. Beat the whites of two eggs with a little sugar and a half-teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour top and brown in the oven. Serve hot or cold.

Custard Whip.

Make the custard the same as the first recipe. Take two very eggs and mash them, beat white of a fresh egg very stiff, add a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, and a half-teaspoonful of vanilla, and beat to a whip. Put the center of a glass dish and the cold custard around it.

Custard Pudding.

Two cups of milk in a boiler. Mix together three teaspoonsfuls of cornstarch, three teaspoonsfuls of sugar, a little salt and the scalped milk slowly. Add to the double boiler and 20 minutes, stirring steadily at least six minutes. Remove from the fire and stir in two well-beaten egg whites. When cool, add to taste and turn into small cups. Put in a cold place to set, and serve with crushed cherries or a soft custard, or whipped cream.

Physical exercise that will be still unpopular. This is because they are dull, and one of the few defects of the excellent Swedish system.

Teaching a pupil to play tennis is a faulty method, as tennis is a game of skill. Put in a cold place to set, and serve with crushed cherries or a soft custard, or whipped cream.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

Why Is a Man "Pathetic?"

WHAT is there so "pathetic" about a man, that a woman can't even watch him packing his own grip, without feeling a queer little pang of pity, and running to help him?

Why do I always get that little ache in the throat, when I go to a bachelor's party, and observe his futile efforts to make the place look "bright and homely"?

You can watch a woman struggle with a man-sized job, all day, without a twinge—but let a man start out to sew on a button, and every woman's heart is torn for him.

Even the picture of a man playing with his baby son or daughter brings the misty mothering smile to a woman's eyes, and makes her want to vote for him for Governor. And she can get positively mushy over a talcum powder advertisement, in which "Big Shaver" and "little Shaver" are shown using talc out of the same box!

A spinster can live alone, from New Year's Day to December 31, and nobody says, "How sad!" but let a man set himself up in a studio, and do his own housework, and every woman shakes her head, and wants to "mother" him.

A business girl can get up and cook her own eggs and bacon every morning, and other women will only envy her that "blessed independence." But when a man tells you that he gets up before the family is awake and makes his own coffee, every woman's heart bleeds for him.

Even the hotel chambermaid will let a woman hang up her own clothes—but she will carefully put away a man's laundry and lay out his house coat and slippers, with a yearning sort of tenderness.

A woman just can't bear to see a man "do things for himself!" Her "mother's soul" broods over him!

That's why men are so helpless and spoiled, and such a nuisance around the house. We women MAKE them that way!

Yet, if anybody on earth can stand solitude and revels in living alone and delights in thinking he can cook, it's the average HE-MAN!

A man is never so happy as when he is camping out, putting over a cook stove, cleaning fish or fooling around a tent!

He is completely and entirely sufficient unto himself—and he DOES love seclusion!

There is no reason on earth why women should waste any sympathy or shed any tears over a man who is luxuriating in the sweet solitude of a bachelor flat.

He isn't "pathetic!" He is delighted with himself, and could be perfectly happy if the women would only leave him ALONE!

Household Discoveries.

Always sweep rugs with the nap runs.

Never let milk stand in a tin container.

Don't expect low prices for vegetables out of season.

Wash your hands in vinegar after washing dishes and they will not char.

Coffee grounds should be emptied in the sink as a cleanser for the drain pipe.

Rub the leather furniture occasionally with sweet oil to prevent it from drying or cracking.

Patented triple garter strip prevents runs.

BLUE MOON SILK STOCKINGS

FOR sheer endurance, for exquisite silk stockings that will really wear, choose Blue Moon. Made of pure Japanese silk, the longest wearing fabric known. Full fashioned, in all the new colors. Insist upon Blue Moon Silk Stockings at your dealer's.

"Tintex tints the silk without coloring the lace"

TINTEX makes it easy for you to practice true economy. For example, instead of discarding faded lace-trimmed silk "undies," tint them new again with Tintex (in the Blue Box). Just "tint" your lace—and it becomes its original distinct shade for a new shade (if you wish)—but the lace remains untouched. See the fashionable Tintex Colors on the Color Card at your drug or department store.

Blue Box—for lace-trimmed silk (lace remains white). Grey Box—for tinting and dyeing all materials (silk, cotton, muslin, goods).

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A fight over the ratification of the new French-American debt settlement will continue today before the Senate, which had been formally invited to the White House.

Senators from Missouri, implacable foes of the debt and other debt agreements recently ratified, reopened their attack on the American Debt Commission, which he said, had gone further than the law creating it had intended.

The commission's policies were defended by Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, one of the members, who declared the negotiators had only done what Congress expected them to do in negotiating settlements on the capacity of the debtors to pay.

Before the debate started, President Coolidge had sent the French ambassador to the Capitol with a request that it be ratified, but the parliamentary situation prevented immediate presentation in the Senate.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, April 30.— France has agreed to the terms proposed by the American Debt Commission for the settlement of her war and post-armistice obligations to this country.

France, according to the agreement made yesterday, will pay $30,000,000 a year for 10 years, the annuities mounting thereafter until the seventeenth annual installment is $125,000,000, where it will stand for 44 years. The sixty-second year wipes out the debt, with a payment of $117,847,694.
The total payment amounts to $6-87,674,104.17, which is $627,000,- 000 more than the Caillaux offer of last September and approximately the same amount less than the Americans were willing to agree on at that time.

In actual figures, the French come out midway between the British and the Italians. Great Britain's contract discounted represents a little over 80 per cent of her obligation; Italy's represents 24 per cent and France's about 50 per cent of her obligation.

No safeguard clause.

The nearest thing to it is a provision that if at any time France finds herself unable to meet any annual installments she may, on giving 90 days' notice, defer payment of the principal of that installment for three years. The British have a similar privilege except that they have only two years' exception.

No announcement has been made as to this country's policy toward lifting the ban on bankers' loans to France, but the present intention is that this shall be done as soon as the French Chamber of Deputies ratifies the agreement.

Italy was permitted to borrow immediately on signing the settlement without waiting for action by the Italian Parliament.

Whether the difference is due to the reported stiff opposition of the Conservative party in the French Chamber is a matter of conjecture.

Administration Confident.

The administration has the votes to drive the bill through, but might have to resort to cloture to accomplish it.

The agreement was signed by Secretary Mellon as the head of the American Debt Commission and by Ambassador Berenger for France. Before the final ceremonies the Americans took the agreement to the White House where it was approved by President Coolidge.

All the members of the American commission were present except Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, but it was explained that both had approved the agreement.

Both Sides Satisfied.

The two absences had both increased more strenuously than any
